Confederacy Cast to Present 'Our Town' Monday Night, August 11th

A special performance of Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning "Our Town" will be presented at the Robert E. Lee Amphitheatre by members of "The Confederacy" company on Monday, August 11 at 8:30 p.m. Monday is the one night in each week when "The Confederacy" does not play.

Beach Actress Gets Attention In 'Confederacy'

Virginia Beach — Young Peggy Baroo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Baroo of Virginia Beach, is delighting audiences here as Annie Lee, one of the lovely daughters of General Lee in "The Confederacy," Paul Green's new outdoor success playing at the Robert E. Lee Amphitheatre through Labor Day.

With other members of the large Lee household, Annie is first seen in a gay ballroom sequence at the handsome family homestead in Arlington. Later we see them in quite a different mood in the austerity of their battle-scarred Richmond residence.

Miss Baroo's pictorial role in "The Confederacy" heightens interest in the theater which got off to a good start with three years experience in dramatics at Virginia Beach High School and singing with the high school chorus.

In completion of her final year in high school, Miss Baroo will enroll at the College of William and Mary in Norfolk where she will study physics and look forward to continuing her dramatic studies.

Bank Night Is Theatre Sellout

The management of "The Confederacy" has announced that the Thursday, August 7th performance, designated as "Bank Night" at the new Paul Green outdoor drama, is completely sold out.

The huge Robert E. Lee Amphitheatre will be filled with personnel from the Southern Bank of Norfolk, The Seaboard Citizens National Bank, the National Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Virginia Beach.

However, the box-office at the theatre site just off Larkin Road will be open for the convenience of people who wish to make reservations for Friday and Saturday nights, as well as for later dates.

Sightseeing Tours Franchise Granted

Virginia Beach Sightseeing, Inc., was granted a franchise to operate daily tours to Williamsburg, Jamestown and Yorktown at a hearing held last Wednesday in Richmond.

Melvin Dodson, president of the organization, said immediate use will be made to provide the service which will be available yearly from May to December.

Blue Fish Continue to Run Off Coast of Virginia Beach

Virginia Beach has another top rate attraction to offer the tourist, and in particular the sport fisherman. For those who have not had the opportunity or thrill of catching game fish, there are many types to be found just offshore from the beach.

Charter boats from Long Creek Marina have continued to bring in large catches during the past week. On Thursday Capt. Steve Quimby added the Playmate with Mr. B. F. Conte and party posted 140 blues.

On the same day Capt. Charles Peel and 13-year-old mate, Charlie Ansell aboard the Frances M. teamed up to give two novice fishermen the time of their lives.

Don Handrick of Waverly, N.Y., who had been fishing only once before and Harold Samuels of Athens, Pa., who made his first trip had a fine day with 120 blue fish and 46 bonitas.

Over the weekend the following outstanding catches were recorded. Capt. Bill Norris on the Consuelo C. with Mr. H. H. Pope and party of Capron and Emporia had a catch of 108 blues and 56 bonitas. The Two Sisters with Capt. Hugh Barnes had the Newswinger family had the top catch on Sunday totalling 194 blues and 87 bonitas. The Frances M. with J. M. Greene, George Dettmerman of Bayville, Doctors John Decker and Thomas C. Royer of Norfolk and Earl Dunham of Huddonfield, N.J., caught 118 blues and 66 bonitas. Capt. Steve Quimby with Mr. Belfield and party brought in 110 blues and 30 bonitas. Capt. Jeter on the Mary Kim started late and returned to dock with a total of 89 blues and bonitas.

The Bill Tom with Milton and Lou Palmer, Tom Nance and Walter Cummings headed for the 20 fathom curve and came in with dolphin and a 43 lb. yellowfin tuna.

All of the best catches interviewed Sunday night were highly optimistic concerning the exceptional run of fish and all expressed the view that fine fishing will continue through September and early October.

News Digest

Hershey to View Guard Saturday

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, will join Governor Almond and other high state and military officials at Camp Pendleton Saturday for the Governor's Day review of Virginia National Guard troops.

Adj. Gen. Shepperd Crump and members of the Legislature will be among other guests for the ceremonies. Col. Joel D. Griffin of Berryville, chief of planning in the National Selective Service office in Washington, also plans to attend.

About 1,000 Virginia Guardsmen are in summer training at the state military reservation here. ### Vacationer's Drowning Is First of Year

The first drowning of the 1958 season in Virginia Beach was reported Sunday when a 26-year-old vacationer went down about 80 yards off 19th street.

Police identified the victim as Elmer G. Bole of Route 1, Womeland, Pa. He was vacationing at a beach cottage with two brothers.

Three lifeguards attempted to rescue the man. The body washed ashore at 20th street as the Coast Guard patrol boat, a helicopter from Oceana Naval Air Station and the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Rescue Squad searched.

Police said the man was not learned left immediately after the drowning for their home to break the news to their family.

Virginia Beach police escorted them to the Kiptopeke Ferry and then led them through the waiting traffic to enable them to catch the earliest possible ferry.

July Most Active Month in History Of Coast Guard

As July drew to a close, the Fifth Coast Guard District's log reveals that it has been the most active month in history, with an average of almost 10 assistance cases each day. It was also one of the most "disastrous," with a death toll of about one per day.

Death after the previous weekend's eight and the interim period's three (two in Elizabeth City, N.C., and one near the Ocean View area of Norfolk).

In last weekend's fatal case, two men were refueling their 18-foot outboard in Corapeake Inlet, N.C. Suddenly, the boat began to drift seaward, and then the capsized.

One man, who was wearing a life jacket, was saved. The other was holding on to the empty gas can and trying to grab a floating life jacket.

Then a large wave hit him, and he hasn't been seen since, despite a thorough, three-day land, sea, and air search by the Coast Guard over a one thousand square mile area. The pilot of one of the aircraft, reported optimistically that visibility was good, but that nothing had been sighted except numerous sharks.

In another case, death was barely averted Sunday, when at 1:56 in the afternoon, the Coast Guard buoy tender Madrona overheard a distress call on 2165 kilocycles indicating that a man was overboard from a fishing vessel in the Newport News area.

Since she was not in the vicinity, the Madrona passed the information to the Coast Guard's Norfolk Group Office, and within 12 minutes, a 40-foot patrol boat was on the scene.

By that time, the man had been found and taken aboard the fishing boat. While artificial respiration was being applied to the unconscious man, the patrol boat towed the fishing vessel to the waiting fire department personnel who had been previously notified to meet the boat with an inhalator on the nearest dock.

At 2:35 p.m., the man was breathing normally again and was on his way to complete recovery.

Other cases during last week-end were more routine and less critical. One type of incident, which is cropping up disturbingly

Nipped, Dipped, Waived, Jailed

Three men who splashed around in Rudee Inlet Monday night, shouting for help when they were in no danger, were arrested later on charges of being drunk in public and disorderly conduct.

Their shouts for help brought responses from the police and fire departments and the Virginia Beach Rescue Squad.

When they reached the shore, the police took them in custody. A police department spokesman said they were drinking and went into the inlet to swim. Later they started splashing and shouting for help, attracting the attention of other citizens.

They were released after being held in jail for six hours and are to appear in court Friday.

Slaying Nets Princess Anne Man 12 Years in Prison

A Robbins Court Negro in Princess Anne Circuit Court Monday was sentenced to 12 years in the State Penitentiary for the murder of his wife.

Judge Henry W. McKenzie Jr. imposed the sentence after hearing a pre-sentence probation report.

Smith was found guilty of second degree murder three weeks ago after he had waived trial by jury.

He admitted during the trial that he shot his wife, Lee Belle Smith, in the back of the head home near Robbins Corner after an argument over $2.

Giving Wrong Name Results in Conviction

A Virginia Beach man was sentenced to 12 months in jail and fined $50 and costs in Virginia Beach Police Court Monday on a charge of giving false information to the police.

Lester Whitaker, 30, Negro, of Seaboard, gave his name as Johnny Mack Moore when he was arrested recently on a charge of being drunk in public.

Virginia Beach Police transferred him to the Princess Anne County jail under that name, but later when they went to the jail to get him, there was no Johnny Mack Moore. There was only a Lester Whitaker.

Beach Dog Owners Are Advised of City Ordinance

The City Game Warden has warned dog owners that the city ordinance pertaining to stray dogs is currently being enforced in the City of Virginia Beach.

The city ordinance requires that dogs be maintained on a leash or fenced in area being picked up.

Game Warden H. C. McClelleny is, at the present time, patrolling the city and does not on a leash or fenced in area being picked up.

The plans and specifications for the work were mailed out to prospective bidders on July 30. Actual work on Pacific avenue is expected to begin shortly after September 1.

Princess Anne Little Leaguers, State Champions, Off To Maryland Today for Regional Playoff Games

Those amazing Princess Anne Little Leaguers are off for Frederick, Maryland, to compete in the regional Little League tournament there as champions of the State of Virginia.

The young baseballers captured the State championship in a come-from-behind victory over Front Royal last Sunday in the State tournament held in Portsmouth. The final score read: Princess Anne 3; Front Royal 2.

The State champions were trailing Front Royal in the final game by 2 to 0 going into the last inning. Bobby DeMille sparked the club with a towering home run in the final frame.

Trailing by a lone run from Tim Tillet reached first base safely on an error, but was forced at second by Don Russell. Steve Strickler and John Sklaros walked to load the bases.

With the bases full of Princess Anne stars young Jimmy Johnson lined a single to center scoring the clincher and the State title belonged to Princess Anne.

Front Royal's Wayne Crim had held Princess Anne to one hit until the final sixth and final inning. Winning hurler Sklaros gave up five hits.

The regional playoff games start today in the Maryland city but Princess Anne has drawn a first round bye. The local State champions are scheduled to meet the winner of the Maryland-Kentucky game on Friday.

United Community Fund leaders in Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach are shown at a recent meeting when they prepared for solicitation of business firms throughout the area. Canvassing by this group began Monday and will continue for two weeks. Shown are, left to right, Allan A. Campbell, co-chairman of the general unit; C. Herbert Brooks, team captain, East Ocean View; James G. Darden, co-chairman of the Men's Division; Lewis E. Smith, team captain for Virginia Beach; and John C. Bradburne, Major in the Virginia Beach area. (Simmons Photo.)

Outdoor Theatre Scout Campsite

Saturday morning a contingent of Troop 12, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Talbot Park Baptist Church of Norfolk, blazed the trail in testing the huge new outdoor amphitheatre just off Larkin Road, little more than a mile from the ocean at Virginia Beach, last weekend.

The Tidewater Historic Drama Association has made this wooded wonderland available to the Boy Scouts of America for camping purposes and to families and larger groups for outing purposes in the groves of tall pine adjacent to the beautiful amphitheatre of the Paul Green outdoor drama, now enjoying its first successful season.

Troop 12, members of the Ski-Co-Ak District, under the capable leadership of Scoutmaster Milton Brinegar and Assistant Scoutmaster William H. Vidal, had already set up camp with four tents, a pleasantly pungent campfire, a sign for the campsite, and luncheon in the making when General Robert E. Lee (Robert Stanton) appeared on the scene in full regalia. After inspecting the camp, chatting with the scouts, and sampling the chow, the amiable general invited the scouts and their leaders to be the guests of "The Confederacy" cast and staff for the Saturday evening performance.

Mr. Brinegar, the Scoutmaster, explained that he and his troop committee would make a report of their weekend's camping to the Tidewater Council, Boy Scouts of America, establishing the grounds at "The Confederacy" as an excellent campsite for other scout units as well as for themselves. Then it is expected that the "Tidewater Council will recommend its use to all other scouting units within its jurisdiction.

Mr. Wade Williams, spokesman for "The Confederacy," stated that plans are afoot to provide the entire recreation area with water, sanitation facilities, and an excellent road network for ready accessibility to the entire area.

The featured speaker of the evening was Major G. D. Mitchell Jr., Special Assistant to the Commanding General of the Tactical Air Command. Major Mitchell spoke on TAC's mission and the Composite Air Strike Force.

The highlight of the evening was the first public showing of moving pictures of jet planes being rocketed into space with the new "sery launch" system. The films had been declassified only hours before the showing.

The business meeting was led by Lieutenant Colonel Robert W. Love of Norfolk Squadron Commander. At the session the constitution and by-laws for the group were approved. From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

A City-Dirty

Took a back road home last night and stopped for gas at Higgins Crossing — a village with three or four stores, a few houses and a Post Office.

While I was there another fellow drove up to the gas station, with Big City written all over him — from his clothes to his back-seat car, to his attitude. "Fogging like the real country for peace and quiet, is there?" he remarked to the attendant.

"Why, I wouldn't know," the attendant said. "I lived all my life right here in town!"

From where I sit, opinions are sometimes like fingerprints, never two exactly the same. The idea is not that you have to think like the next fellow — but to understand his point of view. (For instance, your preference for tea, my liking for an occasional glass of beer.) It makes neighbors more like neighbors.

Chesapeake District Civitans to Meet Here Aug. 8-10

Color and ceremony of the council meeting itself will vie with attractions of one of the nation's most notable ocean resorts when the first quarterly council meeting of the Chesapeake district of Civitan International for the 1958-59 year is held at Virginia Beach Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 8, 9 and 10. The sessions will be held in the swank Cavalier Club, where most delegations will also be housed, and participants will enjoy the beach, open-air ballroom, indoor pool and numerous other facilities of the club. A good-sized delegation of the Virginia Beach club will attend and serve as convention hosts.

Agenda for the council meeting, announced by District Gov. Harry Madden of Alexandria, will include an international vice president's conference Friday, presided over by Vice President Robert E. Howell of Norfolk, and with other international officers present. The Virginia Beach club will also have official representatives to the annual meeting and election of the Chesapeake District's Foundation for Mentally Retarded and Handicapped Children, scheduled for Friday evening.

Because not all district officers were installed at the May district convention, the opening council meeting session Saturday morning will be marked by formal installation ceremonies. The president's opening will also see the first appearance of the famed Mount Vernon Guards, youth musical and military group sponsored by the Mt. Vernon, Va. club, as the district's ceremonial unit. Their awards will also be presented to the "Outstanding Civitans of 1957-58"—Col. Ruth M. Soper of Mt. Vernon and John Cerniglia of Bethesda, Md.—named at the May convention.

The Guards will follow the initial call to order Saturday morning at 9:30 by Past International President Everett A. Sioeloff of Lexington, N.C., with a presentation of the colors and will escort the district officers in the installation ceremonies. They will furnish a color guard throughout the meetings and provide the closing ceremonies.

Speakers at the Saturday morning session will include Gov. Madden, International Vice President Howell and Past Vice President Sioeloff. Reports will be given by Malcolm L. Moore of Alexandria, district secretary-treasurer; Gov. Madden; and Gov. Elmer William E. Cooper of Richmond. Club presidents will present their reports during the morning.

Separate training sessions for district lieutenant governors, club presidents and club secretaries will mark the Saturday afternoon sessions, led respectively by Vice President Howell, Past Vice President Sioeloff and Past Gov. Richard E. Moffitt of the North Carolina district. Reports of the district's delegates to the New Orleans International convention, Past Gov. C. Ramsey Crutt of Norfolk and Gov. Madden will be other afternoon events.

A devotional service will open the Sunday morning program. It will be followed by several major committee reports, which will develop plans for important district activities of the year. These will include those on membership by Past Gov. John S. Richardson, Arlington; extension, Gov. Elmer Cooper; budget and finance, John Cerniglia; education and essay contests, Eli Baer, Baltimore, Md.; constitution and by-laws, Jerome Orlitz, Frederick, Md.; district awards, Wilfred Robinson, Arlington, and resolutions, Frank Crider, Washington, D.C.

The Friday international vice president's conference is expected to outline Civitan International's plans for progress, particularly as they affect International Zone 3, which includes the Chesapeake district (Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia, Pennsylvania and New Jersey) and the North Carolina district. The session of the Foundation for Mentally Retarded and Handicapped Children will elect a new president to succeed Thomas J. McNulty of Baltimore, its leader for its first two years, and other officers, name rectors and probably make changes new members of the board of directors in constitution and by-laws to allow for better continuity of operation. Reports will probably be made on initial operation of the Georgetown University Clinic for Mentally Retarded and Handicapped Children under Foundation sponsorship.

Open season on woodcock will run from November 17 to December 26 in Virginia this year, continued Phelps and hunters will again be allowed to take four woodcock a day and have eight in possession.

Liberation of the dove season and repetition of rail, gallinule and woodcock seasons as long as last year's were allowed after banding, nesting season, hunter kill and other information compiled by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service indicated that there have been no significant changes in the populations of these game birds, the Virginia director noted.

The dove season or "band days" means that dove shooting will be allowed from 12 o'clock noon until sunset on those days, Phelps concluded.

Open Season Dates Set for Birds

Virginia's dove hunters will have 55 half-days of shooting this fall and winter, five more than they were given in 1957, according to Chester F. Phelps, executive director of the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries.

This longer season will be split into two parts, running from September 15 to November 10 and then from December 27 to January 3, he said, adding that the bag limit on doves will be 10 a day and the possession limit 20 after the first day of the season.

Rails and gallinules will be the first group of migratory waterfowl to be harvested by Old Dominion hunters this fall, however, Phelps said. The open season on rails, including sora, and gallinules will be from September 15 to October 31, he explained. Bag limits on all rails except the sora and on gallinules will be 15 daily and 30 in possession, while the bag limit on sora will be 35 daily and 25 in possession, the director said.

Open season on woodcock will run from November 17 to December 26 in Virginia this year, continued Phelps and hunters will again be allowed to take four woodcock a day and have eight in possession.

Imagine Being Happy During CHANGE-OF-LIFE!

Thousands of women are suffering from "change-of-life" symptoms. They are hot flashes, night sweats, irritability, nervousness, and many other symptoms. You can get relief from these symptoms by taking Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a love of a vegetable, and the apple of the world's eye because it has appetite tempting powers aplenty.

Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a unique, delicious flavor make it a salad and served simply with a dash of dressing or fresh lemon juice, a salad in itself. But the clever housewife also uses the beautiful vegetable as a basis for many top and palate appealing salad combinations.

Take, for example, Anchovy Cheese Tomato Accord. In this attractive red and white creation, firm fresh tomatoes, slit from front to back, are filled with a peppy mixture of cottage cheese, anchovies and chopped onion. Another salad that looks and tastes as if it were the handiwork of a master chef is Curried Potato Stuffed Tomatoes in which scooped-out whole tomatoes form chalice for diced cooked potatoes mixed with green peppers, onions and curry powder. Still another is Deviled Ham Stuffed Tomatoes. In addition to palatability and flavor charm the tomato offers an exceptional wealth of nutrients. One medium-sized tomato supplies almost one-half the vitamin C and about one-third of the Vitamin A recommended as the daily quota, and contains vitamin B1, calcium, phosphorus and iron. Although the tomato contains only about one per cent protein it has 80 of the 18 most frequently occurring amino acids and some of all of the eight essential amino acids. Small wonder that America's love of the "love apple" has made it our country's second most valuable crop. It's topped only by Potatoes.

Here are some suggestions from the United Fruit and Vegetable Association for serving the tempting tomato.

- Anchovy Cheese Tomato
- 1 1/2 fresh tomatoes
- 8-ounce package cottage cheese
- 4 tablespoons anchovies, chopped
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- Head lettuce
- Whole anchovies for garnish (optional)
- Mayonnaise

In Louis XIII's France the tomato was called "Pomme d'amour" (love apple) and thought to possess huring magic. Today we agree essentially with the 16th Century French about the tomato. It is a love of a vegetable, and the apple of the world's eye because it has appetite tempting powers aplenty.

BACKRUBBERS HELP FREE CATTLE OF HORN FLIES

Beef Cattle can free themselves of horn flies if they are provided with an insecticide-treated rubbing device.

A 5% oil solution of methoxychlor, DDT or toxaphene can be used to saturate the backrubbers. Wait 30 days between the last treatment and slaughter time when using the 5% DDT solution; wait 28 days when using the 5% toxaphene solution. No waiting period is needed when the 5% methoxychlor solution is used.

Handle all insecticides with care. If an oil solution is spilled on the skin, wash it off immediately. Wash your hands thoroughly as soon as you have finished handling insecticides. Do not contaminate feed, feeding utensils, watering troughs, or other places where cattle feed or drink with the insecticide. Do not let runoff from the backrubber contaminate streams. Read and observe all other precautions listed on the container label.

These backrubbers treated with insecticides-oil solutions are recommended for beef cattle only. Do not use on dairy cattle.

Directions for making backrubbers from wire and feed mops are available from my office.

ALFALFA IMPORTANT IN FORAGE PROGRAM

Alfalfa's role is increasingly important on Princess Anne farms—despite weevil woes. And, it's apt to stay important in our forage program for a long time to come.

The first good August rain will be the signal for many farmers to start seeding alfalfa, but there are some things to do now.

The soil should already have been selected and tested. Now is the time (30 to 60 days before seeding) that the seed bed should be prepared. The ideal seedbed is firm and compact so that it provides plenty of moisture. Lack of a good seedbed is one of the most common causes of alfalfa failure. There should be enough fine granular soil to cover the seeds. Disk frequently to destroy weeds.

Use an adapted variety. Certified Williamsburg, Certified Atlantic, Certified Buffalo, Kansas Common, and Oklahoma Approved are recommended. The first four listed have consistently yielded the highest. Williamsburg has been top yielder in more tests than any other variety. Atlantic is fairly winter hardy. Buffalo should be used where material wilt is a problem.

A publication of timely interest is Circular 374, "Alfalfa Production in Virginia." It lists detailed information on liming, fertilization, seeding rates, time of seeding, inoculation of seed, harvesting etc. Send a postcard for your free copy.

CAUTION ADVISED WHEN FILLING SILOS

Silo-filling can be a deadly business.

Nitrogen dioxide, a poisonous gas that may form in fresh silage, can cause "silo-filler's disease," hazardous to humans and livestock. As little as 100 parts per million of the gas in the air can be dangerous.

Silo filler's disease causes severe coughing and burning or choking pains in the throat and chest. A person who has these symptoms while working in the silo, or afterward, should see a doctor immediately. Serious illness or death can result from delay. Farmers should take extra precautions when filling silos with corn grown in hot, dry years, or with silage made from corn that received heavy applications of nitrogen.

Please follow these precautions: Run the blower for 10 minutes before going into a partly-filled silo and keep it running while inside.

Be alert to irritating odors. The gas tends to settle in the silo chute and base.

Look for yellowish-brown fumes. Use a flashlight if the silo is dark.

Keep children and animals away from a silo during filling, and for at least a week after filling.

COW EAT SUDAN BETTER THAN MILLET

If you would like to see a grazing experiment between Sudan Grass and Pearl Millet than follow these directions.

Get in your car and go to the Kempsville Meadows Golf Course, get your Clubs, and start playing golf. Somewhere along the eighteen hole course you will find Bill Oliver. Ask Bill to take you to his farm and to show you his field of Sudan and Millet.

Most of Bill's summer pastures are Sudan Grass, and have been for years. However, this spring he readily agreed upon my request to plant a small acreage of Pearl Millet in the same field with Sudan.

No stake was needed to tell where the Millet was. The Millet was about 24 inches high whereas the Sudan was grassed down to 6 inches.

The Millet, however, was slightly greener than the Sudan. This was due to the fact that Millet does not show rust or blight as readily as Sudan. Another advantage of Millet is that it can be grazed sooner than Sudan because it has no danger of prussic acid poisoning.

Where Millet is planted in a separate field it is doubtful if any taste preference can be noted.

Both of these plants can be used for summer pastures, zero feedings, and for silage. Of course, this is a year when everyone has plenty of forage, however, we never know this in the spring so we must always plan enough forage for a dry summer. That is what happened this year, and we find ourselves with more forage for cattle than we have ever known.

CALF DISTRIBUTION SET FOR SEPTEMBER 13th.

The annual 4-H Baby Beef Project will get underway on September 13 when 4-H boys and girls receive their Baby Beefs.

This Tremendous 4-H project consist of raising a wild 500 pound calf into a "gentle as a lamb" 1,000 pounder.

These quality beef steers are first broken to halter and to lead. Both the calves and the boys take a lot of knocks the first week. At this point the calf isn't the most cooperative "ole soul." After getting the calf settled down, the boys then concentrate on getting the calf on full feed. Full feed consist of eating all the corn, oats, bran, and protein supplement that he can. Along with the lavish dish of grain goes some quality grass hay. By another thirty days our 4-H Agent, Barnes Allen, will be out on the boys farm preaching and teaching those things that must be ready when the calf arrives. "Have you got your feed ready?" "How about putting some new boards on that fence?" "Take the hint boys, get ready before Barnes gets there."

INSECT BECOMING MORE PREVALENT

European Corn Borers have infested corn in the Back Bay area. In some case the damage looks severe, however, it is doubtful if there will be any real reduction in yield.

Dr. Douglas Greenwood, entomologist from the Truck Station, and I have visited several fields and the infestation seems to be about the same in all cases. The borers bore into the stalk and into ear. One of the first symptoms is a falling or bending over the top.

It is not advisable to spray in an attempt to kill the borer.

The Bean Leaf Beetle was found in several fields of soybeans. At the time of the survey, the beetles were eating on the leaves only and had not gone to the early blooms.

Watch your early soybeans very carefully. As soon as you see the beetles cut off the blooms it is time to spray.

FARMERS FIELD DAY AUGUST 14

One of the most difficult jobs that farmers have to do today is to keep abreast with the latest developments in agriculture.

To help you in solving this problem, the VPI Agricultural Extension Service wishes to invite you to attend the annual field day to be held at the Holland Experiment Station on Thursday, August 14. The field day starts at 1:30 and ends at 4:00 p.m.

You will see on the test of the station the latest research work in corn, soybeans, plus the famous work that Horace Thomas has done in developing the new meat breed of hogs, the "Virginia Black."

May I urge that you get together with your neighbors and come as a group. If you would like to attend, but do not have transportation, please let me know and I'll be happy to arrange it for you.

Put a circle around August 14 on your calendar and plan to attend.

Virginia Beach Youth Making Good in Debut

Virginia Beach's 12-year-old Stuart Fletcher White is making his professional dramatic debut this summer as David Wane, one of the children who witness several sequences of "The Confederacy" now playing at the Robert E. Lee Amphitheater here through Labor Day.

Prancing and cavorting about the stage, Stuart appears with various other youngsters in rousing scenes of exaltation such as the cheering crowds which throng Richmond's streets to celebrate a Southern victory—and scenes of lamentation such as the grieving crowd at General Stonewall Jackson's funeral.

An eighth grade student at Virginia Beach High School, for the past three years, Stuart has also been a piano student at Brimley Hardin School of Music where he has now progressed to some of Bach's compositions.

Music and dancing are his professed "first loves," though he says he is interested in just about "everything." "Everything" includes the study of history and government, collecting wax match books, and such sports as baseball, football, basketball, tennis and fishing.

Winners Named in P.A. Golf

Winners in the annual Princess Anne County Golf tournament were crowned last night at the Princess Anne County Clubhouse.

In the championship flight A. Mathias, a three time title winner, defeated Brink Evans, 3 and 2, for his fourth title.

A youngster of 16, Charles Field IV won the second flight when he defeated Mayor Frank A. Dusch, 3 and 2, in the final.

Fair to Feature Southside Firemen in Demonstration

PETERSBURG—County and community volunteer fire departments of Southside Virginia will put on what is billed the "biggest and best" thrill show on Thursday, October 2nd at the Southside Virginia Fair, Petersburg. The fair has been a project of the local Lions Club since 1955. Twenty-four fire organizations will participate. They will put out fire, scale walls, hose battle, do aerobics and perform some comedy routines. All in competitive exhibitions. This will be the first fire thrill show to be held at the Fair in a decade and is part of the Lions Club program to revive the old-time fair idea of local recreation participation.

All the performers, even the clowns, will be firemen. A 65-foot high building front will serve as a gym for the firemen to demonstrate their skills. An all-around of acrobatic stunts, including an old time steam engine and hand drawn horse cart, both dating back a century.

The firemen will put on a "bumping" demonstration to show how they free from bad fires and how to prevent fire alarm sirens are prevented to show how much this operation would be altered from if women were firemen. A demonstration to the alarm the women would on with them had taken down their alarm sirens around their hole and made in their faces.

The fair will run September 30 through October 2. In addition to the usual grandstand program of sports a highlight will be the presentation of the annual field of Virginia Beach County winners scheduled for Thursday September 30. Winners will include the "best" and "sharpest" in basketball, football, baseball, and softball, which were in the southern California desert.

Carolínians Prominent Among Those Making 'Confederacy' Work

The city of Hickory, N. C., has contributed two shining lights to Paul Green's latest and greatest outdoor drama, "The Confederacy," which is now in its premiere season at Virginia Beach.

John R. Cauble, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cauble, is General Manager for the production and Ernest Woodard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woodard, plays the part of the abundant spirit J. E. B. Stuart, colonial Cavalier hero of the War Between the States.

Mr. Cauble, together with his wife, Martha (who is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. Lewis Thornburg of Hickory) and small son, Russ, came to Virginia Beach back in the cold blustery days of February. At that time he started to lay the groundwork and set into motion the wheels that would eventually turn out "The Confederacy," cited by the critics as the "most colorful in 21 years" since the original Green spectacular, "The Lost Colony."

First, the sponsoring organization was formed from the citizenry of six municipalities of Tidewater Virginia. For this corporation, The Tidewater Historic Drama Association, John Cauble has acted as Executive Producer. Then there was the task of clearing a forest of giant pines to build the $100,000.00 Robert E. Lee amphitheater, the assembling of a company of more than 100 actors, singers, dancers and technicians, headed by the renowned Dr. Samuel Selden. . . there was housing to be found for the Confederacy company, power companies and builders to be dealt with, promotional problems to be solved. . . in all aspects of building the mighty drama. . . from ground-breaking to the spectacular opening of "The Confederacy." John Cauble's capable administration has played the guiding role.

Enamored of the theatre since

Paul O. Hirschbiel, Vice-President of Seaboard Citizens National Bank, George T. Mullen, Vice-President and Cashier of the Bank of Virginia Beach, John S. Alfriend, President of the National Bank of Commerce and Stanley E. Bishop, Senior Vice-President of the Southern Bank of Norfolk receive authentic Southern Officer's hats from Sidney S. Kellam during intermission at "Bank Night" at the Confederacy.

Popular Johnny Long Returning To Cavalier

Returning to the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club for a one-week engagement, Johnny Long and his Orchestra open August 15th featuring virtuosic and blonde Debbie Brown, singer.

Although this is his 23rd year with his band, Johnny Long has won the title of "Young America's Favorite" with his rhythmic style and showmanship. With his featured gal vocalist, trombonist Mickey Graving, his solo club specialty, his use of clarinet in mellophones and his own violin which he plays left handed, Johnny Long insures an evening of solid entertainment with good danceable music.

Evidence of this fact is his list of engagements which embrace night club, theatre, University dances, festivals and clubs.

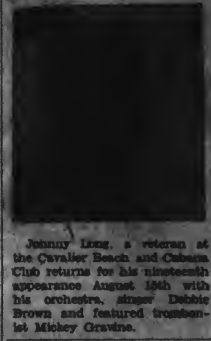

The songs most closely associated with Johnny Long are "I'm a Shanty in Old Shanty Town," "Blue Skies," "When I Grow Too Old Too Dream." However, the long format is well rounded to include Latin American, Charleston and specialty numbers.

Johnny Long's 1958 engagement here makes him a real veteran at the Cavalier as this is his nineteenth appearance at the Beach Club.

The clinic will be under the direction of Steve Chipchak, Supervisor of Summer Playgrounds, and he will be assisted by Fred Boles, Lou Breddove, and Bernie Shields.

Fundamentals, such as passing, kicking, blocking, tackling, running, stance, etc., will be stressed. Boys participating in this clinic must come dressed in the athletic attire they intend to practice in. No pads are necessary.

Participants are asked to bring their lunch and eat in the stadium.

Players planning to participate with teams in the recreation football leagues this fall are urged to attend; however, regardless whether or not they intend to play recreation football, all boys are invited.

The Princess Anne Little League team, already State champions and District Four winners, are now in Louisville, Kentucky, competing in the Southern finals of Little League play. The team has already won the State championship and the District Four title. If they win in Louisville the next stop would be Williamsport, Pa., and the Little League World Series.

In the District Four games at Frederick, Md., it was the one-two pitching that paid off for the local winners. In the first contest, Bobby DeMille hurled a one-hitter against Brooklyn Park, Md.

In last Saturday's final game in the Maryland city, young John Sienrakos won his way out of trouble repeatedly with his mates committing six errors behind him. It was DeMille who pitched a 1-2 pitch over the right field wall with a mule about that brought a 3 to 1 victory over a strong Delaware team.

The Champion's coach and greatest booster, Bill "Bookie" Allen has nothing but praise for all of his boys. Allen states in no uncertain terms that his team has the best two pitchers in all of Little League competition.

In Louisville two games are scheduled for Thursday with Friday set aside for signifying. The two winners meet for the title on Saturday while the losers play a consolation game.

A large crowd of fans and well wishers went with the Princess Anne team to the Kentucky city. It is said that if the team wins in Louisville all of Princess Anne may close down and journey to Williamsport for the World Series.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Confederacy Contributes More Than Entertainment

Paul Green's stirring outdoor drama, "The Confederacy," which opened here on July 1 and has about 15 days more performances before it rings down the curtain on its premiere season has added much to the life of this community.

The drama can be viewed from many angles. It is highly entertaining and therefore occupies a high place in the entertainment picture at Virginia Beach. Many, many of our visitors have viewed the play and have been impressed and entertained.

Educationally the drama probably surpasses the entertainment phase of the play. "The Confederacy," as written by Pulitzer Prize Winning Author Paul Green, contains many historical facts that have proven educational to many who are not deep students of history.

The play particularly brings out points about General Robert E. Lee that are not generally known or remembered. Green has contributed a great deal of historical information surrounding Lee, the man, and the Civil War period.

One of the great contributions, we believe, that has undoubtedly been overlooked by many, concerning "The Confederacy" is that it is a business and a new business venture for Virginia Beach and the community. It is contributing in more than one way to our economy, that is, directly and indirectly.

Economically "The Confederacy" employs more than 100 persons. This is probably the largest number of employees of a single small business to be found here. These people live here, eat here and spend their money here. Over and above this phase the "Confederacy" playing here helps the economy of the entire community.

Another feature not to be overlooked either is the caliber of the people connected with the drama. Most are college trained and educated persons who add much to the summer life of our community and to its culture.

We feel that some may look upon "The Confederacy" as just an entertainment vehicle. This is not true. The historic drama playing nightly in the Robert E. Lee amphitheatre here embodies a variety of sound contributions to the betterment of our community. It would be wise for us to recognize the many fine aspects of this highly enlightening project.

Three Straight Victories

Winners, and still world champions. That was the announcement last week in Ocean City, New Jersey, after the Tidewater Anglers Surf Casting team had established a new world's record and had successfully defended its championship in the annual Ocean City Cup surf casting competition.

The victory was the third in a row for the local surf casting team and was probably the sweetest triumph of all. The local team set a new world's record of 387 feet per cast with one of its members, Maurice Davenport of Virginia Beach, setting a new record among individuals of 443 feet, six inches per cast, with a top cast of 454 feet.

The majority of the members of the Tidewater team are residents of Virginia Beach and the team is the first in the history of the competition to win the cup three straight years.

We offered these fishing enthusiasts best wishes before their trip to the New Jersey city and now we are happy to offer our congratulations to a group of champions. The community is justly proud of the fame that they have brought us. May they continue to reign as the world's champion surf casters.

Fishing Accident Leaves Four Men In Water 2½ Hours

At 4:39 p.m. Sunday afternoon, four men from the Tidewater team were trying a little fishing in a 15-foot outboard near the channel some two miles off Newport News Point.

One minute later, the boat was swamped by the wake of a passing vessel. Its occupants were thrown into the water where they remained for two-and-a-half grueling hours.

It took the Coast Guard only 12 minutes to get a 40-foot patrol boat to the scene, but it had been two hours before the distress was observed and the Coast Guard had been notified. Once in the area, the rescue boat was able to pick up the survivors, right the outboard, and secure a tow line all within 15 minutes.

By 8 a.m., the four fishermen—wet, weary but well—were delivered to the dock at Port Norfolk. They didn't have any fish, but no one could say they had been unlucky.

Only a few hours before this case, the Coast Guard Lifesboat Station at Virginia Beach had made a tragic report to the Fifth Coast Guard District Rescue Coordination Center in Norfolk. The Beach's frequently rough surf and dangerous undertow had claimed their first drowning victim of the summer season, a 26-year-old male tourist.

Although this was the only death of the week end, there were the usual numerous close calls. Earlier in the week, a sudden thunderstorm put two boats in distress within four minutes in the Ocean View area of Norfolk. In case No. 330, a postman jumped from his disabled outboard and swam the 150 feet to the beach.

At approximately the same time, a sail boat was swamped with three passengers aboard about three miles off Ocean View. A Coast Guard 30-foot patrol boat arrived immediately and towed this craft to safety to close case 330.

Among the other incidents of the week end were four which would normally be put in the in-exhaustible category. A fishing vessel ran out of fuel in the York River, and other boats went around in the Upper Chesapeake Bay, the southern Branch of the Elizabeth River, and the Sinepuxent Bay, near Ocean City, Maryland.

All told, last week end, there were 42 search and rescue cases coordinated by the Fifth Coast Guard District. In 1956, this figure would have been the highest in Coast Guard history. Last year, it would have been well above the normal expected workload. But by this year's standards, a total of 42 cases was a relatively light week end.

After July's record of 415 incidents, which was an astounding 60 cases above the previous high, the Coast Guard hopes that the relatively slow start in August represents a trend. Sooner or later, it is hoped, the boating public's vast increase in numbers will be matched by a similar increase in courtesy, caution, and competence on the water.

Completes Expansion Program

Two-Classroom Addition Begun at Everett School

Work began this week on a two-classroom addition to the Everett School in Linkhorn Park which will bring to completion an extensive building expansion program begun several years ago. When the work is finished in the first week of September it will allow the housing under the same roof of all the primary grades of the select private school—a four-year-old kindergarten class, two five-year-old kindergarten classes, two first grades and two second grades.

In addition, the school enrolls students in the third, fourth and fifth grades, and this year will have a special class for sixth grade boys.

Training School Registration Set For August 21

Pre-registration for first grade pupils who will attend Princess Anne Training School will be held on Thursday, August 21, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon in the library room of the Training School. First graders must be six years of age on or before October 1, 1958 in order to be eligible for enrollment. Parents or guardians must present the child's birth certificate as evidence of his or her age. It is imperative that all first graders of this school be registered on the above date.

Construction of the new building is in addition to extensive repairs and repainting of the existing school building.

The new building is designed to complement the existing design of the present school building. It will be of fireproof masonry construction, with architectural features that include utilization of the greatest amount of natural light. Large expanses of glass windows nearly cover the outside walls, and in addition a new type plexiglass dome skylight will be installed in one of the rooms.

The Everett School, which was established as a private school in 1914, is one of the oldest and best known of the private schools in this area. Founded on Christian principles, the school is non-sectarian and maintains a standard of curriculum that is maintained each year. Mrs. Everett consults with educators and publishers in New York before choosing textbooks of the type to carry out the standards set for the curriculum.

Cooperative agreements with preparatory schools on a higher school-grade level have resulted

Robert Kunkler Trumpeter For 'Confederacy'

An important though unseen member of the company of "The Confederacy," Paul Green's hit symphonic drama playing at the Robert E. Lee Amphitheatre here through Labor Day, is Virginia Beach's Robert Kunkler. He is the trumpeter whose stirring martial notes of the armies of both the North and the South comprise a vital part of the production's effectiveness.

Immediately off stage throughout each performance, Mr. Kunkler must be constantly "on his toes." Time and again throughout the evening, we hear his trumpet call the dramatic action, sound a note of exaltation—or, such, a note of lamentation.

Mr. Kunkler and his trumpet have been comrades for some time. For two years, his accomplished playing carried him to Virginia's State Music Competition where he received First Division status. He attended Maury High School in Norfolk, where he was a member of the Maury Band for three years and, during his senior year, played with the Stardusters, a local dance band.

Mr. Kunkler also attended Michigan State University where he was a member of the famed Michigan Marching Band. "The Confederacy" marks his professional debut in the theater.

In a curriculum geared to admission standards of those schools, such schools in the area include the Norfolk Academy and the Country Day School for Girls at Virginia Beach.

Curriculum emphasis is on phonics, science in all grades above the first, arithmetic, geography and history, French in all grades, music and music appreciation, art and art appreciation.

Classes are kept intentionally small at the school so that individual attention may be given the youngsters in the admittedly rugged curriculum.

The Everett School is one of a few in this area that has been listed by the Forster-Sargent Private Schools Directory as one of the nation's and Virginia's lead-

State Horse Show Set for Sept. 12-14

Entries from all over the State of Virginia and from a number of neighboring states have already been received for the fifth annual Virginia State Horse Show, scheduled for September 12, 13 and 14 at the Fairgrounds in Richmond.

The largest all-division horse show in the Old Dominion, the competition will feature 72 classes, including saddle, western, Arabian, hunters, jumpers, ponies and Tennessee walking horses.

The Virginia State Horse Show is held each fall by the Richmond Horse Show Association. Co-sponsor of this year's show will be the West End Junior Chamber of Commerce, which will use proceeds to further its philanthropic projects.

Entries for the show will close on September 1. Prize lists and entry blanks may be secured by those interested in participating. Requests should be addressed to the show chairman, Dr. David Forrest, Box 5011, Richmond 20, Virginia.

Tickets for the Virginia State Horse Show will go on sale late this month at Miller & Rhodes' and Thalhimer's box offices in Richmond. They may also be ordered from the show headquarters.

Eastern Finance Franted License In West Virginia

License has been granted to Eastern Finance Corporation to expand its operations into the state of West Virginia, according to an announcement by P. Wallace Hewler, president of the corporation.

Fowler said the location of the first West Virginia office will be announced in the near future. It will bring to fifteen the total number of offices being operated by the corporation in the three-state area of Virginia, North Carolina and West Virginia.

Coincident with the new expansion, Fowler also announced that the Board of Directors has authorized an offering of 6% capital debentures, with stock warrants attached, in the principal amount of $500,000.

The debentures, which will be offered for public subscription on August 18, are available in multiples of $100 to mature on August 1, 1968. The stock warrants provide debenture holders the option to purchase five shares of the corporation Class A Common Stock for each $100 debenture.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, U. S. fire losses in 1957 amounted to $1,275,000,000, up 3 1/2% over 1956. Someone foots the bill.

By NANCY CARTER

Take another look—is it really the high cost of living or the cost of high living that takes such a chunk of your food dollars.

Most Americans have become accustomed to food products with many "services and values added." We like the frozen dinners which need only to be reheated, the brown 'n serve biscuits, the cake mixes, canned juices and hundreds of other foods that can make meal preparation such a cinch. But, sometimes we forget that right beside these labor saving products are the ingredients for making the same dish from scratch if we want to take the time and the trouble to do it.

All super markets still stock the lard, flour, spices and dried apples Grandma used to buy if she wanted to make an apple pie. But these same super markets have added six or eight kinds of shortenings, many more spices, canned apples, canned prepared apple pie fillings, several varieties of fresh apples plus frozen apple pies and bakery apple pies. So take your choice Mrs. America, how much do you want to pay for apple pie today?

Six Thrifty Tips

Every family can have good food and good nutrition at their own price. In all super markets there is always a full line of good food, minus the frills, at prices to suit every family. Most of us could serve nourishing, eye- and appetite-appealing meals with plenty of variety if we would follow these six tips:

1. Plan meals ahead: Read the food ads, write down menus for three or four days then make a shopping list from the menu.
2. Learn the ABC's of meat buying. Learn the grades and brands of meats your store carries so you can buy to best advantage.
3. Learn grades and brands of canned foods and the best uses for each. It is thrifter to buy broken canned tomatoes than whole tomatoes when making spaghetti sauce.
4. Read labels. Buy food by brand for that is your guarantee of quality. Most labels contain such helpful information as weight, size, number of servings, ingredients, brand, recipes and so on.
5. Take advantage of introductory sales of multiple unit sales. When new products are introduced there is often a discount offer. The 2-for-1 sales are always good ways to save.

6. Cook to retain the food values you paid for your good money to get. Use tested recipes and new cooking methods. Use low heat, small amounts of water; don't overcook food.

FREE BOOKLET

A handy reference booklet is available free. It lists 21 ways to help you make food dollars go further. Inside the booklet is a chart which can be fastened to your kitchen cabinet door for easy reference. To obtain the booklet, write: Nancy Carter, P. O. Box 4356, Atlanta, Georgia, and ask for "21 Ways" or "Money Saving Booklet." It will be sent free with several recipe booklets you'll enjoy.

Pipers National Little League Champions

A real thriller of a ball game was played at Virginia Beach Memorial Stadium on Wednesday night, the 6th, between the Pipers and the Jayce Hawks, with the Pipers emerging victorious and once again the National Little League champions.

Several "firsts" occurred during the season. Tony Schoenfelder pitched a beautiful game for the winners, the first no-hit, no-run game in local Little League history. In the fifth inning, Roger Mercer topped off the winning score with a hard hit ball over the fence for his first home run. Piper Tommy Tarkenton also had a "first," though not one to celebrate. He wound up the season with his first strike out of the year.

Ronny Kull went all the way for the Hawks, fighting a courageous and sportsmanlike battle as did his teammates.

Final score, 4 to 0. Batteries for the Pipers, Schoenfelder and Harrington, for the Hawks, Kull and Brown.

The play-off between the American League Champions, the Cubs, and the Pipers will take place later this month.

MRS. STEWART HUDDLESTON ATTENDS DANCE ABSEN. MEET
Mrs. Stewart Huddleston returned Sunday from New York where she attended the Convention of the National Assn. of Dance and Affiliated Artists at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Bene, Melvin Kaiser, Maria Menel-aka, Virgie Lee Emmons, Charles Grass, Out Stone, Benny Smith, Eldon Irwin, and Lois Rae Watts. She also received her fifth gold medal award for participation in classes and exhibitions. Mrs. Huddleston owns the Martha Carr School of Dancing.

to all these Questions is "YES"
We're Ready to Help You Earn

Our Sincere Thanks...

American railroads have been relieved of some of the burdens of excessive regulation and unfair taxation — thanks to the overwhelming public support given legislation recently passed by the United States Congress.

The new laws, while a step in the right direction, provide only partial relief, and much remains to be done to free the railroads from oppressive regulations entirely unsuited to present day conditions when railroads must contend for traffic with heavily subsidized competitors.

The nation's press, radio and television, and other communications media played a decisive role in focusing public attention upon the plight of the railroads and urging prompt legislative relief. The result was a flood of public opinion in support of the railroads. This was decisive in bringing about passage of remedial legislation.

A powerful and helpful contribution was made by the vigorous support of men and women in all walks of life, including our shippers and employees. The aid of Chambers of Commerce and civic clubs also was invaluable.

We of the Norfolk and Western express our sincere thanks to each individual and organization which supported the railroads in their fight for fair treatment and survival in the field of transportation.

NEW OPEN-SAUCEPAN-METHOD for ICED TEA

1. 1/2 cup LOOSE TEA OR 15 TEA BAGS

2. BRING 1 QUART OF FRESH WATER TO A BOIL

3. REMOVE FROM HEAT AND IMMEDIATELY ADD ALL THE TEA AT ONE TIME. BREW 5 MINUTES

4. STRAIN TEA INTO PITCHER CONTAINING 1 QUART COLD WATER

5. 2 cups fresh lemon juice
1 quart orange juice
3 quarts gingerale
Lemon slices, optional

Bring water to full rolling boil in saucepan. Remove from heat immediately add tea. Brew 5 minutes. Pour into container holding 4 cups sugar. Stir until dissolved. Add remaining ingredients except gingerale and lemon slices. Chill, jug before serving, pour over ice block in punch bowl. Stir in gingerale. Garnish with lemon slices.

Concentrated Lemonade Tea
2 cups fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 cups boiling water
7 tea-bags

Combine lemon juice, grated peel and sugar stirring well to dissolve sugar; set aside. Pour boiling water over the tea-bags. Cover. Brew tea 5 minutes. Remove tea-bags. Pour tea into lemon juice mixture. Cover tightly, keep cold. For each serving pour 1/2 cup of this concentrate into large glasses. Add ice cubes, fill with water.

SUMMERTIME REFRESHERS
Amber Tea Delight
Combine 4 cups hot tea with 1 cup sugar, 1 cup fresh lemon juice and 1 quart fresh orange juice. Add 4 12-ounce cans apricot nectar. Chill. Just before serving, add 3 quarts gingerale. Garnish with lemon slices. Serves 40 to 50.

Iced tea is a quick, easy and thrifty way to solve the summer cold drink problem. Make a pitcher of tea in the morning and keep it in hand for meals and between meals.

Just remember that you don't have to keep the pitcher of tea

It's easy to make iced tea this new open-saucepan way, to keep it available for the family throughout the day. Remember to use 50% more tea for iced tea than you would for hot tea. For example, 4 cups of hot tea require 4 tea-bags. Four glasses of iced tea require 8 tea-bags... or 50% more tea.

To make 2 quarts of iced tea (10 ice-filled glasses), pre-measure 1/2 cup loose tea (or prepare 15 tea-bags). Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat, and while water is still bubbling, add all the tea at one time. Stir. Brew tea, uncovered, 5 minutes. Strain and strain into a pitcher holding 1 quart of cold water. Keep at room temperature. Cover. To serve, pour into ice-filled glasses and serve with lemon and sugar to taste.

Points to stress:
1. This recipe can be prepared in half the usual time because it requires boiling only 1 quart of water.

2. Recipe measures loose tea in a cup rather than by "table spoons", to assure accuracy.

3. Requires less ice cubes.

General Information Regarding "Clouding"
1. Clouding in iced tea is caused by precipitation which occurs when tea reaches a certain degree of coldness.

2. Clouding does not impair the flavor or quality of tea. It can be cleared by adding enough boiling water to restore the tea's amber clear color.

3. Iced tea kept at room temperature will maintain its flavor and refreshing pick-up quality 4-6 hours.

IT'S EASY TO MAKE ICED TEA FOR A CROWD

To serve a large number of people, make your job easy by preparing a tea concentrate beforehand.

To make 4 quarts of iced tea (to serve 20-25) (you need):
1 quart boiling water
2 ounces tea
3 quarts of cold tap water

To make 8 quarts of iced tea (to serve 40-45) you need:
2 quarts boiling water
4 ounces (1/2 lb.) tea
6 quarts of cold tap water

Preparation Tips:
Pour the boiling water onto the tea. Use a brewing container that will insure complete coverage of the tea.

Steep 5 minutes, then stir and strain into a container holding the cold tap water.

Pointers on preventing cloudy tea:
Always pour the hot concentrate into the cold tap water and keep at room temperature.

If tea clouds, reduce brewing time but not less than 4 minutes. If clouding persists, clear it up by adding a small quantity of boiling water.

Recommended brewing time is 5 minutes. Water conditions however vary in different sections of the country. You may find it necessary to adjust your brewing time to get full-flavored iced tea.

ICED TEA PUNCHES
Hospitality Tea Punch
(Makes about 2 gallons)

4 cups boiling water
1/2 cup loose tea
4 cups cold water
2 cups lemon juice (strained)
4 cups orange juice (strained)
1 1/2 quarts grape juice
2 cups sugar
2 quarts water

1 quart gingerale
Bring 4 cups water to full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 3-5 minutes. Stir and strain into container holding remaining ingredients except gingerale. Just before serving, pour into punch bowl over block of ice. Stir in gingerale.

Tea Delight

(Makes about 45-50 servings)
4 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons tea
1 cup sugar
12-ounce cans apricot nectar

In the refrigerator. It won't lose a bit of its flavor or freshness and besides, refrigeration may tend to cloud iced tea. The Cloudiness, however, doesn't affect the flavor or quality. If you'd like to restore the tea's original color just add a little boiling water.

ICED TEA ON THE SPOT

One way to make iced tea always ready to quench thirst is to make Lemon Iced Tea Cakes. Freeze Lemon Iced Tea Cakes.

1 cup fresh lemon juice
2 lemons grated lemon peel
1 cup sugar

1 cup lemon tea (15 tea-bags)
Mix ingredients to taste.

1 1/2 cups freshly boiling water
Combine lemon juice, peel and sugar, stirring well to dissolve sugar. Pour boiling water over tea. Brew 5 minutes and strain into the lemon syrup. Pour into ice cube trays and freeze. (Makes one tray of cubes or 14 cubes 2" x 1 1/2"). To serve, put two lemon-iced cubes in a glass. Add additional plain ice cubes if desired. This drink has a good full-bodied flavor. It is delicious any time of the year, but is especially thirst-quenching during the hot summer months.

These cubes will not have the familiar clear straw color of iced tea. Instead, the flavor and thirst-quenching qualities are affected. Both the freezing and the lemon concentrate tend to turn the cubes dark brown in color.

1959 Conservation Reserve Program Announced

The 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank Program has just been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The program, which is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, includes a number of changes from the Conservation Reserve that has been in effect since 1956, according to W. T. Powers, ASC State Administrative officer.

The program's objective is to withdraw cropland from production and thereby adjust total crop acreage to that needed to keep supplies in balance with requirements. At the same time, it requires that farmers establish and maintain sound soil and water conservation practices on the land which is placed in the reserve.

Powers explained that the Conservation Reserve is a voluntary program, under which farmers sign contracts to take part for a definite period of years. In return, the government assists producers

(1) by sharing the cost of establishing conservation practices, and (2) by making annual payments during the period each contract is in effect.

The 1959 crop year will be the fourth year of the Conservation Reserve, the ASC official said. A total of about 10 million acres is now in the program, put there under contracts signed in 1956, and 1958. (The Acreage Reserve of the Soil Bank, a year to year program under which farmers earned payments for reducing their "allocatable" acres of basic crops, will probably be discontinued after 1958.)

Effective with 1959 contracts, several changes have been made in the Conservation Reserve which will strengthen its operation, Powers said. He enumerated them as (1) a higher national average annual payment rate of $13.50 as compared with the previous average of $10.00, (2) greater incentives to put "whole farms" in the programs, and (3) a priority basis for acceptance of offers to take part in the programs, if total applications exceed available funds in a county.

Katsias Leaves for Student Congress

GREENVILLE, N.C.—Mike Katsias, student government president of East Carolina College, left his home in Virginia Beach this past Sunday, to attend the 11th Annual National Student Association Congress which is being held in Delaware, Ohio. Katsias will serve as chairman of the ECC delegation of four selected to attend the Congress.

They will join some 1500 students from all parts of the country who will assemble on the campus of Ohio Wesleyan University for the two-week Congress ending August 29th.

Katsias has been selected to serve as chairman of the Freshman Orientation Committee for the Congress. The newly elected student government head is spearheading a new program at East Carolina this fall which will include closed-circuit TV as a means of providing better communication with incoming students in the field of freshman orientation education. An exhibit will be displayed at the student meeting showing the highlights of the proposed program.

During his three years at East Carolina, he has participated in numerous extra-curricular activities, which include: student government, fraternal work, and campus publications. He served as president of the Lambda Chi Alpha national social fraternity prior to becoming the first out-of-state student ever to be elected president in the spring elections.

The Virginia Beach native has been the recipient of the Cape Henry Woman's Club educational scholarship for four straight years. He is a 1955 graduate of Virginia Beach High School.

He is the son of the late Harry Katsias and resides with his mother and family at 612 23rd Street.

that the regular maximum payments may be earned by putting land into the Conservation Reserve which during the past two years has been in Soil Bank "base crops" (grains, oilseeds, and row crops).

A lower per-acre rate of payment, not to exceed 50 per cent of the maximum rate for the farm, may be earned by putting into the Conservation Reserve certain "non-diversion" land which consists principally of cropland that has not been planted to row crops and small grains in the past two years.

Under the 1959 program there will be special payment provisions for farmers who elect to put the entire farm under the Conservation Reserve. This would include all eligible cropland—both the Soil Bank "base" land and the "non-diversion" land. Such "whole farm" participation would earn the maximum regular rate for all acres in the program plus a 10 per cent increase.

The per-acre rates are the annual payments, made each year a Conservation Reserve contract is in effect. In addition a farmer may earn a payment covering a substantial part of the cost of establishing approved conservation practices on the land in the Reserve. Powers stated that the Virginia average annual payment rate for 1959 contracts will be $16.00 per acre with county rates varying up and down from this figure depending upon land value and productivity. Similarly, individual farm rates will vary up and down from the county rate.

A national 1959 Conservation Reserve goal has been set at 12,500,000 acres. For Virginia a goal of 75,000 acres has been established for new contracts in 1959. This compares with a total of 10,334 acres placed under Reserve contracts on 480 farms in 1956, 1957 and 1958.

The Conservation Reserve is administered at the county level through ASC committees. To acquaint committees and other ASC personnel with the program, ASC officials are holding five meetings at various points in the state.

County ASC offices are expected to commence the sign up of farmers' applications for Conservation Reserve contracts in late August or early September. Before signing a contract a farmer must first indicate a desire to participate so that ASC Committees may establish a maximum payment rate for the farm. October 10 has been set as the last day on which farmers may express a desire to participate and October 24 is the final day for signing applications for Conservation Reserve contracts.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor in each for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a crucible of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Over the altar of a church in Philadelphia a huge window tells the story of the Bible. It speaks only to those who are open to it. Through the centuries the Holy Bible has brought to men the light of the world. It is not only to those who will read it and hear it broadcast. Every day a wonderful light comes to shine in the faces of those whose hearts have been touched by God. And amid the turmoil of our modern world, we are transfixed again and again by the words of someone's Christian conscience.

These too are windows of God. This light could shine from any house at will. That's why the Church needs all.

PREPARE NOW FOR CORN STORAGE

From all reports it seems that in Princess Anne County 1958 will be a record year in corn production. This may mean that 1958 will be a good year to store your corn on the farm.

There are many different systems of harvesting corn here in the county and therefore, the storage facilities must be in accord with the harvesting facilities.

For ear corn frame building 8 ft. in width is adequate. This could be one long shed-roof type building or a frame building with 8 foot bins on either side with a drive-way through the middle. Plans for construction of this building are available from my office.

For shell corn and other similar grains such as small grain and soybeans usually require a steel bin and drying equipment. Various types of equipment are on the market and it is advisable to inspect each of these types before making your decision as to the type you will purchase. This should be done now well in advance of the harvest of the corn crop. There are several types of systems already in operation in Norfolk and Princess Anne Counties and I deem it especially advisable to visit these installations and talk with the farmers that have used them in previous years.

On the average more money can be realized from your corn crop through storage in 8 out of 10 years over that which you would receive at harvest time. When you are putting in storage facilities you should keep in mind that you can spend as much on a system that does not work conveniently as you can on one that works to your advantage. Therefore, a great deal of work and study should be done by you before you start on your construction.

I will be very happy to discuss storage with you, to take you to see other storage facilities and if necessary arrange for the farm building specialist from VPI to work with you assisting in planning your farm storage. Don't wait until you have completed your storage facilities and then ask for me to come out your farm and tell you what is wrong with the installation. It is generally too late in an operation like this to correct mistakes after they have been done.

STORING EXCESS SILAGE
If there has ever been a year when farmers have more silage than they have storage space then it will be this year. I have seen in the county the best corn silage during the six summers that I have been in the county.

Something really new in the storing of silage is storing silage above ground and placing plastic over it. I have done some work on this type of storage, discussed it with the members of the dairy department at VPI and also the Agricultural Engineers at VPI and this is a highly acceptable way of storing silage. It is especially acceptable in years such as this when we will have more silage planted than our silos will hold. The cost of storing corn silage over top can be figured as low as 20¢ per ton. This is far cheaper than you can store in an up-right storage on your farm. The plastic material that is needed to cover the silage is available in this area. If you have more silage than you have space to store I would suggest that you drop by my office and let us discuss the possibility of using above ground bunker type silos. With this type silo no pit is needed and no frames or other block walls are needed. All that is needed is to pile your silage up in your feed lot and cover it with plastic. Don't let good silage go to waste.

August is the month to plant your fall and winter garden. Here are some of the vegetables that can be planted.
Beets, Detroit Dark Red; carrots, Danvers Half Long; radishes, Cherry Belle; Turnips, Purple Top Globe; Turnip Seed, Romanian White Globe; spinach, Virginia Savoy; mustard, Fordhook Fancy; Kale, VATES strain of the Blue Curl Scotch; Collard, VATES Short Stem; Cabbage, All Head Early Select; broccoli, Waltham 28; head lettuce, Great Lakes of Imperial 44; leaf lettuce, Salad Bowl.

Green peas can be planted this month if the Wando variety is used. This gives a good yield for canning and freezing.

There are other vegetables that can be planted this month. Be sure a balance of the leafy, root and fruit vegetables is planted for your fall and winter use. Spinach, mustard, kale, leaf lettuce, turnip salad, and turnips should mature in 45 to 44 days. Beans, peas, and carrots mature in 60 to 70 days, and collards, head lettuce, broccoli, and cabbage mature in 75 to 80 days.

WINTER PASTURES AID TO LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION
Small grain for winter pastures have proved a boon to many Virginia livestock producers, and it's about time to think about seeding.

A mixture of rye and barley, or rye alone, has provided more grazing than other small grains. Seed rye alone at the rate of 2 1/2 to 3 bushels per acre, or the rye-barley or other small grain mixture at the rate of 2 to 4 bushels per acre.

Small grains may follow sudan grass, silage corn, or other early harvested crops. Seed during August of early September. You may wish to add 15 pounds of ryegrass and 15 pounds of crimson clover. Fertilize at the rate of 800 to 800 pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer per acre, or use the equivalent rate of 1-4-4 fertilizer. Growth in addition to that needed for pasture may be harvested for silage, hay, or grain.

PASTURE SEEDING TIME IS NIGH
Pasture seeding time is not far away.

Have the soil tested. If the pH is below 6.0, apply enough lime to bring it up to between 6.0 and 6.5, preferably 6.5. Correcting acidity in the soil is a basic requirement in establishing a good pasture.

Fertilize well. Use 800 to 1,000 pounds per acre of 2-12-12, 4-12-12, 5-10-10, or the equivalent in a similar analysis. Liberal applications of fertilizer at seeding will usually give better and longer-lived stands. If a soil test indicates that phosphate or potash is extremely low, one or both of these elements may be applied in addition to the regular fertilizer.

Prepare a good seedbed. Plowing will generally do a better job of killing the old sod or weeds than disking. Disk the soil thoroughly, preparing a firm seedbed that is not cloddy but not yet too hard.

Keep away weeds for 1-2 years with one application of TRIOX.

TRIOX is the easy way to destroy weeds in pastures, brick walks, driveways, etc. Get rid of weeds which spoil the appearance of your patio, driveway, brick walks, garden paths, etc.

TRIOX not only kills weeds, it makes soil barren, preventing plant growth from 1 to 2 years. Follow label directions and cautions.

fine. If possible, let some time pass, or a good rain fall, between preparation of the seedbed, and seeding.

Use a good pasture mixture. Six to 14 pounds of orchard grass, 1 to 2 pounds of ladino clover, 2 to 3 pounds of red clover, is an excellent mixture. Where orchard grass is not adapted, tall fescue may be substituted.

Seed at the proper time. Seed after the first good rain in September, but not later than October 15.

Cover the seed lightly. A good way is to roll the seedbed with a corrugated roller to compact it, then seed, then roll again to cover the seed.

Other suggestions will be found in Leaflet 40, "Here's How to Seed That Pasture," and Circular 739, "Forage Mixtures for Year-Round Feeding." Ask for a free copy.

For shell corn and other similar grains such as small grain and soybeans usually require special bins and drying equipment. Various types of equipment are on the market and it is advisable to inspect each of these types before making your decision as to the type you will purchase. This should be done now well in advance of the harvest of the corn crop. There are several types of systems already in operation in Norfolk and Princess Anne Counties and I deem it especially advisable to visit these installations and talk with the farmers that have used them in previous years.

On the average more money can be realized from your corn crop through storage in 9 out of 10 years over that which you would receive at harvest time. When you are putting in storage facilities you should keep in mind that you can spend as much on a system that does not work conveniently as you can on one that works to your advantage. Therefore, a great deal of work and study should be done by you before you start on your construction.

I will be very happy to discuss storage with you, to take you to see other storage facilities and if necessary arrange for the farm building specialist from VPI to work with you assisting in planning your farm storage. Don't wait until you have completed your storage facilities and then ask me to come out to your farm and tell you what is wrong with the installation. It is generally too late in an operation like this to correct mistakes after they have been done.

STORING EXCESS Silage

If there has ever been a year when farmers have more silage than they have storage space then it will be this year. I have seen in the county the best corn silage during the six summers that I have been in the county.

Something really new in the storing of silage is storing silage above ground and placing plastic over it. I have done some work on this type of storage. I discussed it with the members of the dairy department at VPI and also the Agricultural Engineers at VPI and this is a highly acceptable way of storing silage. It is especially acceptable in years such as this when we will have more silage than our silos will hold.

The cost of storing corn silage over top can be figured as low as 20¢ per ton. This is far cheaper than you can store in an up-right storage on your farm. The plastic material that is needed to cover the silage is available in this area. If you have more silage than you have space to store I would suggest that you drop by my office and let us discuss the possibility of using above ground bunker type silos. With this type of silo no pit is needed and no frames or cinder block walls are needed. All that is needed is to pile your silage up in your feed lot and cover it with plastic. Don't let good silage go to waste.

August is the month to plant your fall and winter garden. Here are some of the vegetables that can be planted.

Beets, Detroit Dark Red; carrots, Danvers Half Long; radishes, Cherry Belle; Turnips, Purple Top Globe; Turnip Salad, Pomeranian White Globe; spinach, Virginia Savoy; mustard, Fordhook Fancy; Kale, WATERS strain of the Blue Curd Scotch; Collard, WATERS Short Stem; Cabbage, All Head Early Select; broccoli, Waltham 28; head lettuce, Great Lakes of Imperial 44; leaf lettuce, Salad Bowl.

Green peas can be planted this month if the Wando variety is used. This gives a good yield for canning and freezing.

There are other vegetables that can be planted this month. Be sure a balance of the leafy root and fruit vegetables is planted for your fall and winter use. Spinach, mustard, kale, leaf lettuce, turnip salad, and turnips should mature in 45 to 44 days. Beets, peas, and carrots mature in 60 to 70 days, and collards, head lettuce, broccoli, and cabbage mature in 75 to 80 days.

WINTER PASTURES AID TO LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION
Small grain for winter pastures have proved a boon to many Virginia livestock producers, and it's about time to think about seeding.

A mixture of rye and barley, or rye alone, has provided more grazing than other small grains. Seed rye alone at the rate of 2 1/2 to 3 bushels per acre, or the rye-barley or other small grain mixture at the rate of 2 to 4 bushels per acre.

Small grains may follow sudan grass, silage corn, or other early harvested crops. Seed during August or early September. You may wish to add 15 pounds of ryegrass and 15 pounds of crimson clover. Fertilize at the rate of 800 to 850 pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer per acre, or use the equivalent rate of 1-1-1 fertilizer. Growth in addition to that needed for pasture may be harvested for silage, hay, or grain.

PASTURE SEEDING TIME IS NIGH

Pasture seeding time is not far away.

Have the soil tested. If the pH is below 6.0, apply enough lime to bring it up to between 6.0 and 6.5, preferably 6.5. Correcting acidity in the soil is a basic requirement in establishing a good pasture.

Fertilize well. Use 600 to 1,000 pounds per acre of 2-12-12, 4-12-12, 5-10-10, or the equivalent in a similar analysis. Liberal applications of fertilizer at seeding will usually give better and longer-lived stands. If a soil test indicates that phosphate or potash is extremely low, one or both of these elements may be applied in addition to the regular fertilizer.

Prepare a good seedbed. Plowing will generally do a better job of killing the old sod or weeds than disking. Disk the soil thoroughly, preparing a firm seedbed that is not cloddy, but not yet firm. If possible, let some time pass, or a good rain fall, between preparation of the seedbed and seeding.

Use a good pasture mixture. Six to 15 pounds of orchard grass, 1 to 2 pounds of ladino clover, 2 to 3 pounds of red clover, is an excellent mixture. Where orchard grass is not adapted, tall fescue may be substituted.

Seed at the proper time. Seed after the first good rain in September, but not later than October 15.

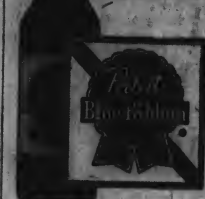

Cover the seed lightly. A good way is to roll the seedbed with a corrugated roller to compact it, then seed, then roll again to cover the seed.

Other suggestions will be found in Leaflet 40, "How to Seed That Pasture," and Circular 709, "Forage Mixtures for Year-Round Feeding." Ask for a free copy.

Soldiers Among Heroes Among Drama's Cast

The hard core of Paul Green's spectacular new outdoor drama "The Confederacy," might well be called the soldiers who carry the arms of North and South in the mortal conflict of the War Between the States.

Following largely from various sections of Tidewater, Virginia, this group of 23 young men... teachers and students, hotel and grocer's clerks, photographers and mailmen, radio technicians and salesmen... arrive at the Robert E. Lee Amphitheatre every evening to don the uniforms of the Confederate and Federal armies.

Much of the play's impact there after depends upon these Civil War warriors as they are seen marching in formation through the streets of Washington, mingling with cheering throngs in Richmond after a Southern victory, in solemn attendance at the funeral of Stonewall Jackson, or resting behind the battle lines on a Christmas eve when soldiers of both forces join for a nostalgic moment in singing Christmas carols.

However, the big moment for the soldiers, and perhaps for the major part of the audience, comes in the clash of battle so vividly depicted.

Among those who follow the Confederate flag in Paul Green's mighty drama are: Fred Caglin, of Salisbury, N.C. who is also the production's box office manager; Robert Layton of Portsmouth, who appears as a Federal soldier; Thomas Pelina, Virginia Beach; James Hughes, Seaside; Darwin... Lynnhaven; Dick... Virginia Beach; William... Portsmouth; Virginia Beach; Robert Marquette, Lynnhaven; Tommy Nelson, Virginia Beach; Robert Winger, Virginia Beach; Kip Moore, Princess Anne County; James Brown of Norfolk; and James Parkinson, South Norfolk.

Those portraying Federal troops include George Aldridge, Virginia Beach; Frank Blackford, Norfolk; Rudy... Norfolk; Robert Rowe, Norfolk; Roy... London Bridge; Billy... Virginia Beach; Sanford... Virginia Beach; William Parker, Norfolk; David Capron, Virginia Beach; and William Phillips, Virginia Beach.

Mrs. Melina with other representatives from the state will meet the Virginia Travel Council booth and will bring back "The Confederacy" in the Civil War costume worn by last year's representative. Further emphasis will be given the drama by Mrs. Melina's presentation of an authentic Confederate bill to the U.S. Ambassador and a beach umbrella full of salt water taffy to the Prime Minister of Canada.

Included in the Virginia Beach promotional material at the exhibit will be specially prepared strip maps with two preferred AAA routes from Toronto to Virginia Beach, accommodation folders, activities folders, fishing folders and folders on "The Confederacy."

This three week travel show is the largest exposition of its kind in Canada and attracts an attendance estimated well over 500,000. Virginia is one of the three states to be invited to participate. The Canadian exposition is one of the many travel shows through which the Virginia Travel Council promotes travel and vacationing in Virginia. This is the fourth successive show at which Virginia Beach has had a representative.

Cavalier Operation Not Affected By Strike; Fully Staffed—Banks

Apparently the effect of the present strike of certain employees at The Cavalier here has resulted in improved service for guests of the club, according to a survey of several recent guests at The Cavalier.

The walkout of members of Local 23 of the Restaurant and Bartenders International Union has had little effect on the operation of the club, a spokesman stated Wednesday.

"We are fully staffed and there is no need to negotiate," said Banks, president of The Cavalier, said. "The walkout only affected our operation one day," he said. "Picket lines were still in operation on Wednesday and Robert D. Robertson, business agent and representative of the striking union, is quoted as saying that 'picket lines will remain until Sidney Banks, owner of the hotel, agrees to remedy the conditions bringing on the strike.'"

Banks reiterated the hotel's position Wednesday in the controversy when he stated "there is no need to negotiate, we're fully staffed."

One of the reasons given for the strike was the firing of union President Alex McKenna. The strike has lasted more than one week and Banks is reported resolved not to meet with the union.

Woman's Club Sets Fall Fashion Preview Sept. 4

The "Fall Fashion Preview" to be sponsored by the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County will show that American know-how has made it possible for women to dress as attractively on a modest income as they could if they "just threw money away."

Such is the opinion of Colin A. Studds of Rose Hall—staging the show to take place on September 4th at 1:30 p.m. at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club—and Mrs. George E. Miller, general chairman of the event. Announcing completed plans for the show, Mrs. Miller states that clothes to be shown this year are to be in the moderate price range "with the exception of a few items to be included for comparison."

"Six groups—sportswear, basic dress clothes, casual dress, luncheon dress, cocktail dresses and evening clothes—are to be shown," Mrs. Miller said. "And it is hoped that there will be something to suit every taste, every pocket-book."

"Industry is always producing better fabrics, better prints, better colors, American designers are forging to the forefront with smart designs conceived with the idea of economical mass production in mind. In Europe irregular sizing standards increase expense because most garments are made on the assumption that they will be altered to fit individual buyers. American manufacturers make use of standardized sizes to save extensive alteration costs for the purchaser."

All of these considerations join to give the American woman a decided advantage when she purchases her wardrobe," Mr. Studds adds. "I will try to point up, also, the influence of past designs on what is being worn today. It is interesting to discover how much in the new line is not really new at all but an adaptation of what has been used over and over again for centuries."

Proceeds from the show will be used to support the sponsoring club's civic and charitable work. Tickets may be obtained from any club member or at the door at the time of the show.

Layne Wooten Has Dual Roles in The Confederacy

In Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Confederacy," Norfolk's Layne Wooten is making a dual professional theatrical debut. He has two roles in this stirring epic of the Civil War—Chas. of Curtis Lee, one of the sons of the famed General about whom the action of the play revolves; and also that of Lt. Walter Taylor, one of the young officers involved in the mortal struggle.

Mr. Wooten's debut culminates a lifelong interest in the stage, an interest which began to grow during his first grade days in school. Throughout his high school years he was active in choral work and public speaking.

A 1956 graduate of Maury High School, Mr. Wooten will enter William and Mary College in the fall. Later he plans further education at the University of Virginia and Georgetown University in Washington, where, in addition to advancing his interest in dramatic arts, he intends to take up diplomatic law.

Traffic Stopper

Every so often I see little things that prove that folks really are pretty wonderful!

Take last Saturday. I was downtown when I saw a middle-aged woman about to cross a busy street. Just as she started, the light changed, and she hurried back to the curb. But the big moving van that was first in the long line of cars had not moved.

"You cross first," the driver of the van yelled. "But you're holding up traffic." The woman said, "Lady," replied the driver.

with a good-natured wink, "as just say you're so good looking you're stopping traffic!"

From where I sit, something like that makes the "dumb" and the "receivers" both feel mighty good. It's like the friendly feeling you get when your husband goes out of her way to serve you beer—even though she doesn't drink it herself. That's pretty wonderful, too!

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Progressive Step in Juvenile Work

The law enforcement agencies of the City of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County have taken a progressive step along with their neighboring Tidewater communities in joining together in a system to exchange information on juveniles, who have run afoul of the law.

Besides Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County the other communities involved in the plan to keep track of juvenile offenders and their offenses are Norfolk, Portsmouth, South Norfolk, Newport News, Hampton and Norfolk County.

We believe the idea is a sound one but will only be effective if each community keeps accurate records and transmits these records to the participating communities. It should certainly help in the ever-increasing problem of curbing juvenile activity of a lawless nature.

As was pointed out police officers in-involved in handling juvenile cases will now exchange information to keep each other informed about what juveniles of their respective communities are doing.

Both the Virginia Beach Police Department and the Princess Anne County Police Department have been prime movers in bringing this system of information exchange into being. It should aid the communities immeasurably.

In the past juveniles who have been in trouble with the police in one community have often times moved their activities to another of the Tidewater communities where they are not known. With the new system in effect all police departments of the various communities will have information on any youth who has had a brush with the law.

We strongly commend the new system and believe it will work.

The National Outlook

By BARRY BOBBY
More and more persons are becoming justifiably concerned and worried over the possibility that we are entering another phase of inflation.

Such a statement raises the question, Why use the term "another phase of inflation?" Why not merely "continuation of inflation?"

The consumer price index continues to rise for the twentieth month in 23 months, the other two months it merely held steady. Wholesale prices have shown diverse trends: Farm products recently have declined; processed foods have continued a sharp increase; industrial prices, as a whole, have shown a slight decrease. The net result is that the index has not fallen below the peak of last March.

Taking the past two or three years as a unit, prices are up, no matter which broad index is used as a measure. It has been generally believed, however, that we are at or very close to the peak, and in the case of the consumer price index it has been thought that we would get a slight decline in some months.

It is on that basis a conclusion was reached that the recent inflationary trend was coming to an end. Now the conclusion is being questioned, and there is growing fear another upsurge is ahead.

Among the reasons for this fear are the following:

1. Congress has made it abundantly clear that it is interested in neither government economy nor a balanced budget. One spending bill after another gets passed, and one bill after another providing tax relief for special groups also gets passed. Some of these have the approval of the Administration. Some do not. From the standpoint of total spending there is little or no basis for distinguishing between the two.

2. As a result of the increased spending and lower revenues, it is now officially estimated the deficit for this fiscal year will be about $12 billion. This will be the largest peacetime deficit in history and, it is assumed, there will be deficits for years hereafter.

3. Wages are continuing to climb. It still is too early to make firm estimates on how much the 1958 increase will be in comparison with 1957. Present indications are that it will be almost as large as last year. This means wages again will be increased more than the output per man-hour, thereby resulting in higher costs of production. It was this discrepancy between wages and productivity which was primarily responsible for the price increases for the past couple of years, and it now appears we shall have more of the same kind of a wage-price increase, and the result has been a quite spectacular increase in loans and investments.

5. Some prices already have been lifted, notably in the metal field. Steel prices, which were held in spite of the July 1 wage increase, have upped the struggle recently and there were advances of about $4.00 a ton. Aluminum also raised prices, although the level still is below its high of a few months ago.

These inflationary forces are being brought to bear at the time the business curve is beginning to show some upward strength. Tending to offset the inflationary forces somewhat is the large unused capacity and substantial unemployment. If it were not for this unused capacity and unemployment, there would be no question but that prices soon would begin another upward movement.

In spite of this offsetting factor, however, the balance of the evidence is that we shall have at most a leveling out of prices for a few months, and then start another upward spiral. The upward spiral when it gets started will not be steep, but it will not be an element of strength in the economic system, and should the public refuse to pay the higher prices it would return the economy to more recession.

Camp Pendleton Water Supply Gets Clean Bill

Virginia Beach—The water supply of the State Military Reservation received a clean bill of health last week.

Col. William L. Ball, of Richmond, serving as the post surgeon for the summer encampment of 1,000 Virginia National Guardsmen here, reported that all water samples submitted to the State Health Department over a period of more than two weeks were found free of any contamination. The series of tests was ordered after earlier reports that some contamination might have developed in the reservation's water system. Other Virginia troops had trained here in July without ill effects, but the military authorities decided to take every precaution for the protection of the personnel now using the 1,000 acre training ground.

The precautions included heavier chlorination, as well as the laboratory tests.

"We simply didn't want to take any chances," said Major General Sheppard Crump, the Virginia adjutant general. The National Guardsmen concluded their training Friday and pulled out for home stations Saturday. They come from many sections of Virginia, including Portsmouth, Onancock, Franklin, Suffolk, Chatham, Albemarle, Rocky Mount, Salem, Richmond and Norfolk.

The first telephone exchange in Virginia was established in Richmond, the state's capital city, on April 1, 1879.

Veeco Adds New Unit to Bremo Power Station

The newest unit of the Bremo Power Station of Virginia Electric and Power Company went on the line today, adding 170,000 kilowatts to the 1,420,000 Kw capacity of the Veeco system. The new addition, the second added to the original station, cost more than $23,000,000 to build and was more than two years under construction.

"With its own stack, the new unit dwarfs the other units of the station in size as well as capacity," Miles Cary, vice president of Veeco, in announcing the addition of the Bremo unit, said that this is a part of the company's continuing plan of construction to keep up with growing customer demand for electricity. In the past ten years, Cary pointed out, the average annual use of electricity by residential customers has increased 120 per cent, while the number of customers served has grown to 70 per cent during the same time.

The first two units at Bremo, built in 1937, have one plate ratings totaling 30,000 kilowatts. The first addition, completed in 1950, is rated at 60,000 kilowatts. Together they total a little over half the capacity of the latest plant. The new steam generator will deliver 1,170,000 pounds per hour of steam to the turbine through a pressure of 2,310 pounds per square inch gauge, and temperature of 1,000°F., and reheat temperature of 1,000°F. with a feed-water temperature of 466°F. at 850 psi.

The turbine generator is a Westinghouse Electric unit with a hydrogen cooling system. Its total weight is approximately 1,185,000 pounds or almost 600 tons. It is 85 feet long at the floor, 12 feet high.

The Bremo addition is one of four now under construction, which are scheduled to bring total capacity of the company's generating stations to more than 3 million kilowatts in 1960. Scheduled for completion late this year is the second unit at Yorktown, which will add 170,000 kilowatts to the system. Next spring, the third unit at Portsmouth Power Station will be completed, adding another 170,000 kilowatts, and the following spring a similar addition at Chesterfield Power Station will be completed.

DEATHS

Editor Sun-News.

Dear Sir:

August has been designated as "Rescue Squad Month," and so far, the report of contributors has been most disappointing.

I wonder just how well informed the citizens of this area are with the task they have performed in the past, and the daily round of rescue work in every type of emergency?

In a locale such as this, where hazards are so prevalent, we could never function as a safe community without them. The lives that have been saved by their quick response and ever alert group of volunteers can never be measured, for "Saving Lives" is their business.

I am acquainted with a case that happened only a few days ago, where a citizen of this community suffered a heart attack while driving his automobile. Within four minutes after the phone call, they were there, and another life was prolonged. The slogan "The Life They Save May Be Your Own" is so applicable, and with no citizen ever immune, my hope is that we all awaken to our responsibility, and send that fund drive where it truly belongs—WAT OVER THE TOP.

Sincerely yours,
Henry L. Jaffe,
Virginia Beach.

Ames Schroeder Lighting Director Of Confederacy

Night after night during the premiere season of "The Confederacy" audiences have thrilled to the magnificent lighting effects of the spectacular Paul Green production.

Ames Schroeder of Portsmouth, the man behind the "moving spot" is at least partially responsible of the visually rewarding sequence of scenes, highlighted by the vividly portrayed battle scenes, which keep even faithful repeaters among the spectators on the edge of their chairs. The Chaplain narrator, as he moves about the three stages of the huge Robert E. Lee Amphitheatre, is probably more aware of his dependence upon Schroeder than any other single member of the cast. For without that spot the narration would come from an utterly dark stage.

Mr. Schroeder is a graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in Portsmouth where he handled all the intricacies of stage lighting for visiting theatrical companies as well as for school productions. An accomplished photographer and amateur radio operator, he is a physics major at Duke University with plans and high hopes for graduate work and a career in nuclear physics.

KELLAM-EATON

INSURANCE CO.

3113 PACIFIC AVE.
Dial GA 8-9161Ford to Bring
Out New Line
For Farmers

Birmingham, Mich.—An entirely new line of Ford industrial tractors and matching high-capacity loading and digging equipment was revealed here Tuesday by Tractor and Implement Division of Ford Motor Company. Announcement also was made that a separate industrial franchise will be available to new and existing dealers.

The new line was unveiled to the Division's distributors, key dealers from industrial areas, and a select press group.

Merritt D. Hill, divisional general manager, was joined by sales officials and engineering personnel in presenting the equipment, and the philosophy which led to its development.

Mr. Hill said: "Ford Motor Company pioneered 41 years ago in producing a tractor with industrial as well as farm capabilities. We have enjoyed leadership in the non-farm tractor market ever since."

"This market exists almost everywhere one looks—the supermarket parking lot, where a tractor and broom clear dirt and snow, the builder digging a basement foundation or landscaping a housing development, the public utility moving its coal supplies. We have counted more than 100 distinct classifications of industries where our present equipment is used. Approximately one-half million organizations can be considered as prospects for this equipment."

In nearly every one of these fields the need is for higher capacity, easily-operated equipment at prices and operating costs under those of the special-purpose equipment, he said. "Not only does our new tractor-loader combination have more than twice the lifting capacity of previous models for industrial jobs, it is also designed for the constant 8-hour-day, day-in-day-out operation which characterizes the industrial user's work," he added.

Details of the equipment will not be made public until dealers can be supplied, Mr. Hill said, although it was noted that the new tractors are already on the production line at Ford's Highland Park, Mich., tractor plant and new equipment for use with them will soon go into production at its Des Moines, Iowa, implement plant.

Because purely industrial equipment requires different types of service facilities, parts stocks, and trained manpower from farm equipment, the Division is putting into effect, through its distributors, a new industrial sales agreement, L. E. Dearborn, general sales manager, said. Industrial dealers will be located at strategic points across the U. S., Canada, Cuba, Mexico, and Hawaii, he added.

The versatile general-purpose tractors and present implements offered by all Ford tractor dealers will continue to be sold through those channels, Mr. Dearborn said.

A study made of the Forestry and Parks Department of the City of Birmingham, Mich., was distributed to the group, which showed the current Ford line being used in almost 50 operations in this 25,000-population city. The new equipment, Mr. Dearborn said, will not displace but will generally supplement that already used by municipalities and other non-farm operators.

Mr. Hill told the group that the Division's total sales volume is expected this year to show an increase over the 1957 level.

Swimming Course Under Way at Chesapeake Beach

The summer recreational program which has been sponsored by the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach in cooperation with the county recreational program, is being brought to a close with a course in advanced swimming. Mr. W. T. Saunders, a certified Red Cross Water Safety Inspector is conducting the course.

The classes are being held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and begins on August 18 and will continue through the 29th.

The classes are open to all those who have completed either junior or senior life saving course.

Classes are being held at Chic's Beach from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. on the above dates. Those interested in more information will please call Mrs. L. E. Leding at HO 4-0877, or Mrs. Richard J. Webber at HO 4-4336.

The six weeks course in senior life saving which has been in progress for the past six weeks was concluded on Saturday, August 16, by a written examination conducted by Mr. Saunders at the Chesapeake Beach Community Center.

The summer schedule has proved most successful, and much interest has been shown by the youth in the seaside area.

Due to the geographical location of their residential area, the Woman's Club has worked thru the year to teach those who use her beaches so constantly, to enjoy them safely.

56 Distress Calls

2 Yachts, in Sinking Condition, Saved by Coast Guard

Almost simultaneously last Saturday afternoon, the Coast Guard Group Commanders at Norfolk and Baltimore received urgent distress calls from yachts in danger of sinking.

In the Norfolk case, the vessel had a cracked stem and was taking on water in the Hugu area with eight passengers on board. Within 17 minutes a Coast Guard 40-foot patrol boat had arrived on the scene, and three-quarters of an hour later, the yacht had been towed to a safe mooring.

Meanwhile, the Baltimore Group Commander was dispatching an 18-foot patrol boat and another 9-footer in the upper Chesapeake Bay to assist the other yacht. In this case, the situation had become so serious that the patrol alertly braced the sinking vessel to protect the three people on board. This time it took the two Coast Guard boats about three hours to refloat the yacht, pump out the water, and move her to a nearby marina.

These were but two of the 56 cases logged by the Fifth Coast Guard Dispatch Rescue Coordination Center over the past week end. Although none of these incidents resulted in death—making it the first no fatality week end in four weeks, the total of 56 made it the second busiest in district history.

An indication of the frequency of distress cases was the fact that the Captain's Gig from the Coast Guard Cutter Ingram, which was dispatched for routine boarding activity Saturday and Sunday, itself rescued three disabled outboard boats on the Elizabeth River.

It's That Time Again

Air Conditioning Boon to Hay Fever, Asthma Victims

It's hay fever time. For many reasons, hay fever is one of the most highly publicized of all physical distresses.

Reasons are that it comes annually on almost the same day; it mysteriously strikes only one person in 25; because of the violent sneezing that accompanies the attack, it has been considered fair game for the humorists.

However, it isn't a laughing matter. Ever since the first account of hay fever was written by John Bostock, an English physician describing his own symptoms in the early part of the 19th century, science has been busy trying to find out ways to combat the ailment.

If you have hay fever and haven't had medical treatment, there are only two things you can do: Either take a trip to a pollen-free section of the country, or get into an air-conditioned room.

One of the greatest boons to the hay fever and asthma sufferers has been contributed by the electronic scientists in the form of room air-conditioners that can be installed in the home. Many hay fever and asthma patients have found the first relief in the history of their ailment through the modern wonder of air conditioning.

There are numerous types of air conditioners on the market that will filter pollen and cool the room.

But the newest item in this line is an electrostatic device that weighs only 15 pounds. It does not have a noisy fan, but it removes 95 per cent of all pollen, dust and smoke particles from rooms.

According to M. F. Belser, president of the Coolerator Division of McGraw-Edison Company, the new air purifier through its electrostatic operation will pluck from the air particles as tiny as a micron (1/25,000 of an inch or less.) It is a low-cost unit that can be set in a window to filter incoming air, or be placed anywhere in the room to clean and recirculate air.

Hay fever sufferers have found that an air conditioned and filtered room enables them to sleep comfortably at night when previously this was the worst period for suffering.

Since most persons cannot leave their jobs for four or five weeks—

One possible cause for this growing Coast Guard workload is the practice of boating in areas with which the operators are not thoroughly familiar. In cases 96 and 99 on the Eastern Shore last Friday, an auxiliary sailboat required the Coast Guard to pilot her through Chincoteague Inlet, while a motorboat needed piloting through Ocean City Inlet by another Coast Guard unit. At least, however, these owners knew when they needed help. Another sailboat operator thought he was doing fine that same afternoon until he went aground in Bogus Sound in North Carolina. The following day, a cabin cruiser wound up high and dry in the Little Creek area of Norfolk.

Other cases including a collision of two cabin cruisers off the Norfolk Naval Base in broad daylight hit with seven miles visibility gave fair warning to the Coast Guard that there would be no rest for the weary this summer.

Waltonian Gun Club News

The Waltonian Gun Club, located on the Waterworks Road has been operating this summer despite the heat. What true sportsmen even think about the heat when he has the stock of his shotgun resting lovingly against his cheek? The heat hasn't stopped Mr. Carter from his usual four rounds of skeet. Gun lovers are always fascinated by his beautiful gun. Mr. Womble is really bringing in up his score. We notice his disposition improves with each high score. (Course it works the other way, too.)

It seems Mr. Scott just doesn't appreciate muddy hunting dogs jumping in his beautiful new car. Of course, during the hunting season we doubt if he would even notice the mud.

Mr. Herman Gills, new manager of the club invites sportsmen to come out and shoot. If it seems too hot, you can sit in the shade and talk about bird hunting, the weather, really—as deep around here sometimes. If you have your gun in the shop, there is always an extra gun or two around that you are welcome to use. Come out and get in practice.

Add Flavor Varieties To Iced Tea

It's no news that variety is the spice of life . . . but a variety of spiced sugars for iced tea is new. . . and welcome, too, because it requires so little effort to provide extra pleasure in a drinking one of America's favorite summer beverages. With a pitcherful of iced tea always on hand, any member of the family can pour himself a nice cool refreshing glass of iced tea, and choose his own flavor sweetener. It's like making your own ice cream sundae.

Here's the list of spices favored by variety to add variety to this favorite summertime drink: Cinnamon, clove, ginger. Combine 1 ounce of each spice with 1 pound of superfine sugar and allow to stand for a week in a covered jar. To make fruit-flavored sugars, such as mint, lemon and orange, combine 2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint, or grated lemon or orange rind with 1 pound of superfine sugar. Cover. Allow to stand one week near, but not on heat. Sift.

As a family mealtime beverage iced tea has different appeals for various members of the family. Weight-watchers prefer it because it has less calories than other summer beverages; heavy-sweaters because iced tea really satisfies.

August is Sandwich Month - let's celebrate by enjoying really delicious sandwich meals - often. With these meals enjoy iced tea - plain or flavored. It will make cooler living for Mom. Summer time brings a merry-go-round of visitors, a whirl of planning for boys & girls - who are always hungry.

Sandwich meals can come to the table as hot dishes and offer numerous flavor surprises. Hope you'll find these suggestions helpful when planning your August meals.

FORT STORY TELLINGS

VIRGINIA BEACH KIWANIS MEET AT STORY

Fort Story, Va.—The Kiwanis Club of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County held their regular weekly meeting at the Fort Story Officers' Open House Wednesday evening. The group was the guest of Lt. Col. Jerome K. Hostetler of Story.

The dinner meeting was chairmaned by vice president F. B.

OHIO STATE PITTSBURGH STEELERS LINEMAN NOW AT STORY

Army khaki is "the uniform of the day" now for a former Ohio State and Pittsburgh Steeler lineman, Second Lieutenant Bill Michael, assigned to the 347th Transportation Company.

Last summer, as a 6'2", 230 pound National Football League rookie, Michael was perspiring his way through the rugged transition between college football and the high-powered play for bread, pro game. Now he's taking Army reveille formations, and supervising training of men on the Army's amphibious workhorse, the DUKW.

Michael was the Steelers' second draft choice in 1957 behind Purdue's pass-conscious T-quarterback Len Dawson. And although most of his bruising at Ohio State was done from an end position, the Steelers experimented with the hefty fast-mover (11 seconds flat for 100 yards) at both offensive tackle and guard. He opened last season as a starting offensive lineman.

A fractured knee sidelined Michael for three weeks last season. The injury is still his main conditioning problem. "I do a lot of running and try to play basketball to strengthen it," he says, "but I'm still overconscious of it."

BAKER HONORED BY ALMA MATER

A Fort Story officer, Major Edgar A. Baker, received a Meritorious Achievement Certificate from his University, Florida A and M, at the school's August commencement this week.

The Florida native is a veteran of more than 16 years Army service. Prior to entering active duty in 1942 he taught in Orlando and Lake Wales schools.

Major Baker is now assigned as Operations Officer of the 10th Transportation Battalion. Prior to coming to Story in May of this year he was with the U.S. Army Transportation Group on the island of Okinawa.

During World War II Major Baker served as Assault Commander of the 758th Truck Battalion attached to the First Armored Division in Europe. During the Korean Conflict he served with the 49th Transportation Battalion. He holds the Bronze Star, Silver Star and Purple Heart.

LYON REVIEWS AT STORY

One of the Army's newest brigadier generals, A. W. Lyon of Fort Bault, reviewed a garrison parade of Army Reserve units at Fort Story Friday afternoon.

The review marked the conclusion of two weeks of active duty training for the reserve organization, several from the Tidewater area. Included in the roster of units were the 824th Augmentation Group for Hampton Roads Army Terminal, the 359th Transportation Battalion of Hampton, the 420th Transportation Company of Norfolk, the 456th Transportation Company of Portsmouth and the 408th Transportation Company of Hampton. Lieutenant Colonel Paul Edwards of Newport News is commander of troops for the parade.

The Reviewing Officer, General Lyon, received his star this week. He is presently serving as commander of the Transportation School at Fort Edmon.

He is a veteran of 26 years Army service since his graduation from the United States Military Academy. The general's military schooling has included the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk.

FORT STORY RED NOSES TURN BLUE

A royal dispatch was received here from the cold court of King Rex, ruler of the kingdom of blue noses.

The dateline on the dispatch read "somewhere off the west coast of Greenland."

King Rex calls his court together only at special times and that is when someone is crossing the Arctic Circle for the first time. These subjects are referred to as "Red Noses" and King Rex initiates these into "Blue Noses" as they enter the Kingdom of the Midnight Sun.

Taking part in the royal festivities were members of 1776 Story's 155th Transportation Company who are on the way to reupholstering radar stations in the Far North.

New members of the Kingdom were, escorted to the ceremonies by the Royal Prince, Major Travis A. Hull, the company's commanding officer. Rank held no privilege as all are equal in King Rex's court and the only discrimination was between the "Blue Noses" who had previously entered Rex's Kingdom and the newly entering "Red Noses."

Now, all members of the 155th have had their noses "blue" by the royal painter and have entered the Kingdom of Ice and snow. A party, by Royal Order ended the court proceedings.

Thusly ended the royal dispatch: "As we close this beautiful day, from the land of the midnight sun, King Rex wishes you all were here."

Besides royal engagements, the 155th will be unloading vessels assuring that Air Force bases and radar stations will operate for another year.

LISTEN TO YOUR COUNTY AGENT 12:30 MON. THRU FRI. ON WBOF; 6:20 THURSDAYS, W.T.A.B.; 12:10 SATURDAY, WTARSTRAWBERRY WEED CONTROL

Problem: Controlling weeds throughout the year. (Now plantings made in the spring.) Chemical: Crag Brand Sesone and Chloro-IPC Weedkiller. Spray Mixture: September 15 to June 1. Dissolve 2 pounds Crag Brand Sesone in 80 gallons of water and add one quart of Chloro-IPC. June 1 to September 15. Dissolve two pounds Crag Brand Sesone in 80 gallons of water and add two quarts Chloro-IPC.

Time of Application: Make first application after plants are well established and after a hand weeding or cultivation. Make second application following any necessary hand weeding and cultivation in June. Make third application following any necessary hand weeding and cultivation in October. A fourth application may be made during dormancy in January to control such spring weeds as knotweed and lamb's quarters, if desired.

Problem: Killing partially grown summer broadleaf weeds in old plantings.

Chemical: 24-D Amino Salt Weedkiller (4 lbs. active per gal.) Spray Mixture: 1 pt. in 5 gals. water. Amount Spray Per Acre: 6 gallons. Time of Application: After picking is completed. During early, rapid growth of weeds. Spray once, hand weed for grasses in 4 weeks, clip with mower and apply treatment suggested in the previous section using Crag Brand Sesone and Chloro-IPC Weedkiller as a soil spray for germinating weeds.

CAUTION: Avoid spraying during rooting of runner plants, fruit bud development, flowering, and fruiting. Application suggested is based on experience with the Blakemore variety. Other varieties must therefore be treated on a very small scale to determine their tolerance of these chemicals.

SHEEP—THE DEPRESSION CROP

Sheep are the insurance feature of an animal agriculture. Sheep should, no more be abolished than life insurance, fire protection, U.S. Savings Bonds, or auto accident insurance. The two crops a year—lamb and wool—spread possibilities for profit into both what people eat and what they wear. After all, markets for agricultural products are created by what folks have on their tables and on their backs.

Sheep fit the requirements for soundness in being one of the few agricultural products grossly under-produced. Over production of lamb meat or wool seems unlikely in the immediate foreseeable future.

Emphasizing the soundness of sheep is the request of that U.S. production be changed from the present 31 million to a sheep population of 50 million. Defense measures to keep America strong is the first reason given by authorities for asking this increase. But to me, a major reason also is its insurance features in keeping the economic status of farmers strong.

Sheep for many, many years now have paid back in sales, a dollar for each dollar invested in them every year. This has earned the title, "depression crop" for sheep, because when farmers can no longer gamble with labor payrolls and tax bills they turn to sheep for insurance so that they can pay these bills as they come due.

Statistics of Virginia sheep numbers bear out the fact that depression day numbers amounted to 500,000 sheep on farms, but never very near that number again. I'd hasten to compliment Virginia farmers for increasing sheep 5 years out of the last 7, while the trend in the nation was decreases in 6 of the last 7 years.

Room for Expansion

Lamb consumption in the greater New York area will amount to around one-half lamb for each person, the greatest of any area in the U.S. The little area from Washington, D.C. to Pittsburgh north through New England consumes 85 per cent of the lamb produced in this country. Overnight truck and rail runs connect us with a never failing market. The man who said that each "lamb chop must travel 1,000 miles from grass range to gas range" was correct, but we have the chance to get ours there with less than one-third of this mileage on them.

Another of the savings in marketing on our side is that market grade holds up better when slaughter is prompt. By reason of nearness to appetites for lamb, we should easily save one-third of a carcass grade which could amount to 75 cents to $1 each.

A Sheep Beside Each Cow

Stocking grazing boundaries with the proper number of cattle, usually leaves room for sheep beside each cow. This is because sheep eat nearly 90 per cent of the weeds in Virginia pastures while cattle choose only 40 per cent. There are other peculiarities in grazing habits such as eating clovers in preference to grasses that may be advantageous to grazing both sheep and cattle together. It is true that if forage is so scant that sheep and cattle must compete with each other for it, the sheep win and cattle lose, because sheep can graze closer. Their smaller muzzle and split upper lip equip them to "shave" the ground if need be.

However, where allowance is made for both, the easiest money ever made is from an ewe and her lamb that helped clean off lush spring growth, but as pasture shortened lambs were sold and ewes were moved to scanty picking to avoid getting pudgy and over fat before the next breeding season. To level out the over-production of spring grasses with sheep in cattle boundaries, sound and good management. Sheep insurance, you could say. Sheep Save the Soil.

Sheep for conservation is a good reason for having them, and since 90 per cent of their living comes from forages which conserve the soil, they are completely in step with the times. Their paths around the hills serve as sheep made terraces which slow down running water. They refuse to drink from rushing streams because their choice is to fill from pools that have formed, so by nature they demand that running water walk. The tops of hills are their bed grounds, which insure fertility where it is most needed.

With a population of 225 million by 1967, it will require 5 million more sheep to feed the population. Virginia should certainly share in this increase both from duty and soundness. For strengthening our economy, for conservation reasons, for insuring profits from an animal agriculture, and for a balanced farming program, sheep increases are logical.

Prosper With Sheep

If you are interested in sheep raising, you will want a copy of the new 40-page bulletin, Prosper With Sheep, just released by the VPI Agricultural Extension Service. The publication is direct and to-the-point containing 44 pictures illustrating good production procedures. It should be in the hands of every sheep grower.

Single copies of the bulletin may be had without cost or obligation by writing: E. R. Cockrell, Jr., County Agent, Princess Anne, Va.

LACK OF TIME
SERIOUS FARM PROBLEM

Recently a farmer made a statement to me that he had used lime and fertilizer at different times on his alfalfa and he was unable to tell how much good the lime had done. In further checking I found that a soil test had been made before liming and lime was needed for the alfalfa. Further information showed that as a result of the soil test he had changed the analysis of the fertilizer used, which had resulted in a successful stand and higher yields of alfalfa.

Fertilizer and lime go together just like gas and oil for your automobile. You wouldn't think of going to the service station and saying "fill it up" without also saying "check the oil" unless you knew the oil was alright. You have the gas cause which is the crop itself that will quickly indicate if the fertility is running out. The oil or lime gauge does not always show as quickly in the crop and you have to "check the oil" to see whether or not lime is needed.

Soil Test "Checks the Oil"

The soil test is one of the best ways to "check the oil" to see whether or not lime is needed. This test shows the pH, or degree of soil acidity, as well as giving a calcium and magnesium test along with phosphate, potash and organic matter.

Lime has many benefits and one of the most important is to correct soil acidity so that the fertilizer will be used by the plant efficiently. It increases the availability of phosphorus, increases activity of beneficial bacteria that aid in decomposing organic matter and releasing nitrogen. It reduces the solubility of aluminum, magnesium and other substances which may be toxic to plants.

Lime supplies calcium and magnesium which are essential for growth of field crops. It promotes granulation of the soil which helps with.

More Lime Needed

Nearly all of the soils in Princess Anne are acid which means that lime is needed for efficient crop production. The amount of lime needed would depend upon the requirement of the crop to be grown, the soil itself, and the kind of lime used. For example, alfalfa is a high lime requiring crop while potatoes do not require as much lime. Less lime would be required on sandy soils to get the desired pH than would be needed on heavy clay soils.

The tonnage of lime used in Virginia has been steadily decreasing from 960,000 tons in 1950 to 464,000 in 1957. This is less than the proper soil reaction in our soils. It is thought that between two and three million tons are needed to raise the pH to the desired level and then at least a million tons each year to keep this level. Lime consumption in Virginia since 1950 follows with year and tons of lime: 1950, 960,000; 1951, 855,000; 1952, 804,777; 1953, 734,000; 1954, 600,000; 1955, 520,300; 1956, 460,728; 1957, 464,000.

The need of lime on your farm may be costing you money in crop production. Check through a soil test to determine your need.

It's just "common sense" to have your soil tested to determine your lime need as well as to get the fertility level of your soil. The soil test when used with information about the crop and soil will show whether or not the lime is needed.

Drama Nearing Close of First Summer Season

Virginia Beach — As Paul Green's latest and greatest outdoor drama, "The Confederacy," goes into the final week of its premiere season, one would think that Costume Designer, George Whitehurst, of Norfolk, would be able to assume the role of spectator, watching his lavishly beautiful costumes as they highlight the spectacular, cited by critics as "the most colorful in 25 years."

However, right through the very last performance, which will be on Labor Day, Mr. Whitehurst will be busy—nightly checking ball gowns and battle garb—mending, making minor alterations, keeping an eagle eye out for actors' apparel to go into the backstage washing machine and for 3-hour service at the local dry cleaners.

In this constant vigilance, during which someone must always stand, needle in hand, ready to do an emergency between-scene repair job, George is ably assisted by Wardrobe Chairman, Barbara Stanton and "Chap" Johnson, who is also responsible for the connecting make-up for the huge cast.

Holder of the New York Fashion Award and costume genius for such extravaganzas as the Atlantic Ballet's "Swan Lake" and "An American in Paris," Mr. Whitehurst, who presently serves as Interior Designer for the Brook Company of Norfolk, brought a wealth of knowledge and experience to "The Confederacy." His work with the production began back in April, long before the company of more than 100 actors, dancers, singers and musicians assembled at the beach.

The task of costume designer in the Civil War period styling with the demands for no essential to sleeping in outdoor drama, required endless hours of research before even the color of the first gown was decided upon. In addition, to material collected from the Norfolk library, Mr. Whitehurst gleaned valuable bits of information from Boston, New York and Philadelphia research sources.

Once the paper work was accomplished, he began the actual business of creating the brilliant costumes which have evoked wave comment from audiences and critics alike.

This task was a long and arduous one. More than 1500 yards of fabric, ribbon and trim went into the making of the women's gowns alone. Some 500 yards of suitings were required to tailor the officers' and soldiers uniforms. In the absence of cast members to stand for fittings, all costumes were made over standard sizes and had to be adjusted to the individuals later.

The talented and ingenious designers know all of the established tricks of the trade and a host more never thought of by most costumers. For instance, in creating the leading lady's travel-

Feature of Fashion Show

Miss Betty Ann Harrell, a very modern young lady, models the newest in evening wear against the antique background of 265-year-old "Rose Hall." The gown will be shown in the "Fall Fashion Preview" to be sponsored by the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County on September 4 at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club.

Annual Fashion Preview Slated For Sept. 4th

Women in the audience to the "Fall Fashion Preview"—to be sponsored on September 4th by the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County at 1:30 p.m. at the Cavalier Beach and Cabana Club will have their fashions "made tested" before they buy. The sponsoring club is providing a male reaction panel made up of local men whom they have invited to be their guests at the show.

On the panel will be: Frank A. Dunch, mayor of Virginia Beach; Russell Hatchett, city manager; Rhea Adams, Leo Hoarty, Douglas Davenport, Fred Isaacs, William P. Kellam, A. P. Alexander and John Vaughan, local businessmen, and John Canby, Robert Planton and Wade Williams, associates in "The Confederacy."

"If the ladies are interested in whether the fashions are appealing to men, they will be able to observe the reactions of the panel members as they sit at a front row table," says one club member. "We are advising the audience not to buy until they see the whistles of the panel's eyes. Our only concern is to keep the panel looking at the clothes and not the models so that we can get an accurate reaction."

New Council To Meet on Monday

The Virginia Beach City Council, after its organizational session, according to Mayor Dunch, start to the council.

Two newly elected members will take their places on the council Monday. They are Edward F. "Red" Coleman and John E. Fitzgerald. They, along with Councilman Frank D. Tarrall, Jr., were elected in June.

Little or no change is expected in the general makeup of the council. Mayor Frank A. Dunch is expected to be re-elected to that position by his colleagues.

The new City Council is made up of Mayor Dunch, Vice-Mayor John W. McCumb, Tarrall, Coleman and Fitzgerald.

Resort Police Held Two Girls in Larcenies

Two unemployed waitresses who never seemed short of pocket money were charged Monday with pilfering from bathers at Virginia Beach. They are Janet Eleanor Dolan and Delores Grady, both 19, of Bellefonte, Pa.

Four charges of petty larceny have been placed against each of the girls. According to Det. Sgt. W. W. Davis, of the Virginia Beach police, the girls gave up their jobs in Bellefonte, put their savings together and came here early in June.

They obtained jobs as waitresses but worked only three days. "When they ran out of money, they apparently started living by their wits," said Davis.

"The fact that they had money and no jobs attracted attention and we placed them up for questioning. They admitted stealing from people on the beach."

"The girls will appear in the City Court Friday."

Zoning Items Fill Time of Supervisors

The Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors spent much of their meeting Monday in discussing zoning matters.

One applicant for a zoning appeal was heard at being denied a change in zoning. Supervisor G. Galtup pointed out that the zoning Commission had twice approved the change of zone that he had requested.

Galtup said the board that if they turned him down he would appeal to the zoning Commission. He said he would appeal to the zoning Commission and if they turned him down he would appeal to the zoning Commission.

Darden, who was asked to be an unanimous vote by the board, said he was opposed to the change of zone because it would change in some cases to the zone build the house close to the lot without having any zoning property.

In other action, the board referred the following zoning application back to the commission:

Application of William E. Darden for a change of zoning from rural residential to commercial in a limited commercial district.

Joan Laschall, Jay A. McGowan Are Married

BAYSIDE NEWS

BAYSIDE LIONS CLUB

The Bayside Lions Club held their regular meeting Wednesday night, August 20 at 7:30 p.m. at Shore Drive Inn. The president, William D. Nag, presided.

Tony Ditto, who recently attended Boys State at Blacksburg and who was sponsored by the Bayside Lions Club, gave an interesting account of the program. The purpose of Boys State is to teach the young people the fundamentals of government. Tony was very much impressed. He was chosen as one of the outstanding boys at Boys State.

Guest speaker, Trooper Joe Smith of the State Police, was introduced by Jimmy Wigg. His topic was "The Progress of the State Police in reducing highway fatalities in Virginia." He said "so far this year there have been 67 less deaths on the highways in spite of an increase of about 5 per cent. in traffic." According to Trooper Smith there has also been a marked decrease in pedestrian accidents. Virginia averages slightly below the national average. Smith stated that the improvement in highway safety is due to several factors—stricter enforcement of traffic laws, the student driver program in the schools—an improvement in the general attitude of drivers because of the various safety programs.

District Governor Spurgeon Tunney was present. He awarded 5-year attendance pins to Roy Twiford and Eugene Caldwell. 1-year attendance pins to 4 others: C. B. Ostrander, J. O. Wiggs, C. A. Farmer and A. S. Jernigan. Awards were also made to four past presidents for outstanding service to the club: D. J. Wilkins, J. B. Loftin, J. Edna Barnes and George C. Lyon.

Safety Group Concerned Over Labor Day Traffic Deaths

Army Seeking 50 Men for Missile On-Job Training

The Department of the Army has authorized the Army Recruiting Service to select an initial quota of 60 qualified young Virginia men from eastern Virginia for on-the-job training in guided missiles of electronics with the 3rd Artillery Group (Air Defense) in Norfolk. It was announced today.

The Third Artillery Group, commanded by Colonel Minot S. Dodson, has a total of eight (8) firing batteries, and is charged with the air defense of the Hampton Roads area.

According to Lt. Colonel Gerald M. O'Neill, Chief of Army Recruiting for Eastern Virginia, the young men selected for this training will be known as "The Virginia Guided Missile Platoon" and will enter the Army on September 30th. During basic training the men will be trained and will remain together as a group under the Army's "Buddy System." After basic, the platoon will return to Norfolk where they will be assigned to one of the Nike batteries for on-the-job training.

Colonel Dodson has indicated that approximately 4,000 men of his command will be giving assistance to the recruiting service in obtaining qualified applicants for this unusual opportunity to play a part in National Defense and to defend their home state area.

The missile platoon, Colonel O'Neill said, is the first of its kind to be organized in this section of Virginia and presents a challenge to young men interested in space age training. Applicants for this training may obtain information from either the Career Counselor, Third Artillery Group, Norfolk Army Base, Norfolk, or at any local Army recruiting office.

A charge is payable when a telephone subscriber in Belgium fails to replace his telephone on the hook.

Coast Guard Report

Drowning, Two Close Calls Mar Relatively Quiet Period

Norfolk—One tragic drowning, two close calls, and one apparent false alarm last week end, marred what was otherwise a relatively safe period on Fifth Coast Guard District waters.

The drowning occurred on Sunday, when a 20-year-old male fell overboard from an outboard motor boat in Maryland's Severn River.

Just eight hours before, there was a report of a man in danger in the water off Ocean City, Maryland. In this case, a Coast Guard DUEW sped to the scene and found, fortunately, that the swimmer had already been saved by local lifeguards.

In another close call—this one in the vicinity of Oak Island, North Carolina, a 44-foot outboard boat with three occupants capsized Saturday. Within 30 minutes, a Coast Guard 20-foot patrol boat had safely recovered the trio and moored the craft at Southport.

The supposed false alarm took place later that same day in the Norfolk, Va. area, where a police dispatch advised the Fifth Coast Guard District Rescue Coordination Center that a woman was in the water near the Lakewood Bridge. The 40-foot patrol boat was rushed to the scene but 14 minutes later, the police advised that the call was a false alarm.

Two similar cases Friday and Saturday saw the Coast Guard launch a search for overdue boats only to find out within the next few hours that they had returned safely to New Bern, N.C., and Baltimore.

Then early Sunday morning, four people were marooned on Maryland's isolated Sharps Island, when their 14-foot outboard boat broke loose and drifted into Chesapeake Bay during a sudden squall. A 40-footer was dispatched from Tilghman Island, and the wayward boat was returned to its owners within a half an hour.

That same afternoon, an 18-foot motorboat was in double trouble between the Virginia Capes; the winds were unfavorable, and her outboard motor was inoperative. The Coast Guard Harbor Entrance Patrol boat stood by the stranded craft until a 30-footer arrived from Little Creek to give her a tow. Shortly thereafter, the winds improved and the sailboat went the rest of the way in on her own.

In ten other cases over the week end, the Coast Guard had to low disabled boats to the dock, but this figure—like the week end last—was case total of 32—was comparatively low for the summer. And there was encouragement in the fact that, for once, a week end was free of boats aground or out of fuel.

Little Creek to Host All-Navy Ball Tournament

The Annual All-Navy Baseball Tournament will be held September 4-8 at the U.S. Naval Amphibious Base, Little Creek, Norfolk, Va.

The general public is invited to attend the series, which brings together the best Navy teams from the Atlantic Fleet, North Atlantic, South Atlantic, Pacific Coast, and Western Pacific regions.

All games will be played at Fabrian Field on the Amphibious Base. The first game will begin at 3:00 p.m., Thursday, September 4, and the second at 8:00 that evening. Thereafter, games will commence at those hours each day and evening, through the afternoon game September 7.

The final game will begin at 1:30 p.m., September 8, and will be a double-header if a tie exists at this point.

Trophies will be presented following the final game.

The tournament will be held under accepted professional rules and will be of the double elimination type. In this play, any team losing two games will be eliminated from further competition.

The Amphibious Base is located on U.S. Route 60, approximately 15 miles northeast of Norfolk, Va.

Richmond, Va. — Expressing deep concern over the forthcoming Labor Day week end, Colonel C. W. Woodson Jr., Superintendent of State Police and Chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee, pointed to Virginia's tragic record of 18 killed during the holiday last year and noted that this represented a 20 per cent increase over the 1956 period while the nation as a whole achieved a 2.5 per cent reduction.

Colonel Woodson stated that a national survey by a large insurance company (Kemper Insurance of Chicago) revealed 97.9 per cent of the national 1957 Labor Day week end fatalities were traceable to law violations with drinking and speeding in the van. Analysis of all fatality reports revealed a drinking driver to have been involved in 53.1 per cent of all fatal crashes and speeding was in excess of limits or too fast for conditions, to have been the cause of 33.7 per cent of the fatalities.

"The Virginia breakdown last year," he said, "shows even greater percentages of drinking and speeding with six deaths involving a combination of the two and one attributable to intoxication alone. All that can be said is that the most elementary precautions and the exercise of common sense can very easily prevent a repetition of the tragic slaughter. The tragedy of the dead is too bad enough but we should bear in mind that the week end usually means also a dreary procession to repair shops, traffic courts and hospitals."

The safety official further advised that the holiday marks the end of the annual nationwide "Slow Down and Live" campaign and advised motorists to do just that. "Don't speed or commit other 'in a hurry' violations. Don't drive when drinking, unshowered or sleepy and do drive defensively in order that you can be a pleasant, sane, and untroubled holiday will increase immeasurably," he concluded.

The MIXING BOWL..
IT'S FUN TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

For the very best in food both and fables... for practical, down-to-earth recipes that please both and pocketbook, read the "Mixing Bowl" by Lucile Clark each Thursday in the Sun-News.

And there!—On a picnic you will so, "house its summertime you know" ... And so the song goes. Doesn't it sound exciting? That is, if Momma doesn't have to go to a lot of fuss and bother. Well, maybe these suggestions will be the perfect answer, a delicious and easy picnic menu. Here they are!

Picnic Special
Fat Rascals
Toasted-broiled corn on the cob
Fresh vegetable salad
Relishes
Variety Ice Cream cones. Fresh Fruit

Cold Mugs of Milk
Doesn't it sound good? What are "Fat Rascals"? You'll find out in just a little while.
Whether served in your own back yard or at the beach - you can't deny the fact that food takes on a new and delicious meaning when served out of doors. It might be the bright sunshine, the gentle breeze or even the usual outdoor exercise. What ever it is, you'll eat twice as much as you normally would and enjoy it so much.

Before - good 'ole summer time has gone, and its fastly slipping away, plan a picnic for the family - one you'll enjoy too, Mom.

So today, I have a wonderful suggestion for an easy-to-make, easy-to-serve picnic menu. And it doesn't require a fancy chimney-type barbecue either - just a rack placed over two stacks of bricks, with a bed of glowing charcoal, is needed to do the cooking act.

First and foremost - the entree. I call them "Fat Rascals," but they're simply Frankfurter Roll-ups in Toasted Buns. If you're really efficient, you can make these up in the morning and keep them refrigerated until you're ready to use them. Start by cutting a slit lengthwise in each frank, but don't cut completely through. Then, spread the slit with prepared mustard. Stuff the frank with a thin finger of shrimp. Cut six slices thick, wrap each frank with a strip of bacon, spiral fashion, and "pin" on with a wood pick. When you're ready to serve, let father grill them on green sticks - for a woodsy flavor-over hot coals, turning, until the bacon is crispy and brown. Finally, place each "Fat Rascal" between halves of frankfurter buns which have been partially split, buttered and toasted over the coals. For a tangy topping, add crumbled blue cheese just before serving.

Serve your "Fat Rascals" with foil-broiled corn on the cob. First cream together softened butter, minced parsley, paprika, a bit o. salt and freshly ground pepper. You'll have to use your own judgment on quantity, depending upon the amount of corn. But, be sure to have plenty of the butter mixture. It will come in deliciously handy when the corn has cooked. Now spread this mixture liberally over each ear of corn. Then wrap each in a piece of aluminum foil, sealing carefully. You can do this little job in the A.M., too, storing the corn in the refrigerator until ready for broiling. To broil, place the corn over the coals, turning occasionally, and allowing about fifteen minutes for total cooking time. And let the foil serve as a handy holder for the butter so that the corn may be rolled about in it.

Complement your broiled corn and "Fat Rascals" with a crisp salad of soaked, fresh greens, relishes, even chili beans if you like, and tall, cold mugs of milk.

Finally, for dessert, simply serve ice cream cones and a bowl of fresh fruit for good tasting on hot days. The less cream you can pack in the fruit and scoop out of the original carton when you're ready to serve.

Sound good? Why not treat yourself and your family? Try this most simple and delightful of picnic menus.

COOK-OUT

The Woman's Auxiliary, firemen and their families of the London Bridge Volunteer Fire Department joined in having a cook-out at the Fire House Tuesday afternoon, August 12.

A bingo party followed in the recreation room. This took place of the monthly meeting of the auxiliary.

The next meeting will be held in the Fire House September 8th at 8 p.m.

PRaise GIVEN MEALS
SERVED AT "COLONY"

Praise for the Colony Restaurant's food was voiced in the remark of Mr. and Mrs. John Breeman, Bellemead, Long Island, N.Y. "The best meal we have had since we started our trip" - after dining there recently. This couple found dining an enjoyable pleasure and ate with fine food and in an often heard remark of visitors who have patronized The Colony Restaurant located on Atlantic Avenue in the Jefferson Hotel Building. ## Teachers' Aids To Be On Duty at Cooke School Opening Day

There will be a teacher's representative outside each classroom at Cooke School, on opening day, September 4. The plan is to have an assistant collect book rentals and help answer questions that may arise in the lower grades last year at the suggestion of a teacher.

At a recent Executive Board meeting of the V.B.S.A. it was decided to assign this service to all rooms.

The assistant will check in enrollment, collect book rentals and answer general school questions. This will enable teachers to devote their entire time to their students.

The P.T.A. and Mrs. Betty Parks principal will be on duty that day and will be available for questions of this opening day to pay the book rental, pick up the book rental, etc.

Nearly 90 per cent of all telephone calls in the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia are dial operated.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in work for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his neighbor's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plans to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

RYE DELEGATE TO RETURN SEPTEMBER 22

Miss Shirley Humphries, International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to England and Wales, will return to her native Princess Anne County on September 22. In England and Wales she has been visiting several different farm families. With these families she has lived as if she were a daughter of the family. She writes that on August 19 she said hello to her last host family. After her visit she and another IFYE plan to spend some 10 days doing some much wanted sight-seeing. After doing some visiting she will return to each of her English families for a short visit. Her schedule calls for her to arrive in New York City on September 16. She will spend a few days in Washington, and hopes to be back with her family on September 22. She says she will be very happy to return home and see all her friends.

Shirley is going to be available to talk to various groups when she returns. Garden Clubs, Woman's Clubs, P.T.A.'s, Church Organizations, and other organizations that desire her to speak and show slides of her international experience. I will be very happy to arrange for you your engagement. She desires to start speaking starting October 1 and will be available for a two-month period to speak to various groups.

TWO NEW ASC PRACTICES AVAILABLE Establishment of Permanent Pastures

Farmers in Princess Anne County have until September 4 to sign up for two practices that they can receive cost-share under the County ASC Program.

The first practice is for the establishment of permanent pastures. The ASC Program will pay $3.50 per ton of lime applied and this lime must be applied according to soil sample.

Cost-share can also be received for the fertilizer that is applied. This cost-share varies according to the analysis that is used.

For the seeding of either Ladino Clover and Orchard Grass or Ladino Clover and Fescue the cost-share is $1.86 per acre. Here is an opportunity for dairymen and livestock producers who are planning to put in new permanent pastures to get some assistance through the ASC Program.

The second practice for which farmers can receive cost-share is the seeding of various cover crops. This practice is one that is needed very much in this county. Too many acres of good crop land are left bare during the winter time. Due to the bareness of the soil considerable leaching of valuable plant food takes place. As a result many dollars that have been spent in fertilizer which is unused will be lost. Cover crops will stop this loss. In addition they will add valuable organic matter to your soil. This makes the soil more friable, more loose and makes it easier to work. I know of a great many acres of soil in the county that is very tight and when plowed has a tendency to break up into clods and lumps. Good cover crops will prevent this. Cover crops also aid in the drainage of your soil. The many roots and the organic matter that is plowed down has a tendency to open up the soil so that water will drain better and also when dry weather comes helps the water come back to the surface.

One of the best cover crops that we have is Crimson Clover. The ASC will pay $3.00 per acre cost-share for seeding of Crimson clover. To get satisfactory growth from Crimson Clover it must be seeded early. If it cannot be seeded by the 15th of September I believe better results will be received from either rye grass or small grain. The cost-share for rye grass is $1.30 per acre; for rye, which is a favorite among dairymen is $1.30; barley, $2.45; oats, $1.66 and small grain mixtures $2.35.

I would like to especially urge farmers at this time to take advantage of these two new practices offered by the ASC Program. Remember you have until September 4 to sign up for either of the two practices. Remember also that you must make the application before seeding.

FEEDER CALF SALE SET FOR OCTOBER 9

Feeder Calf Sales represent only one method of marketing your beef calf crop. However, I have found from past experience that this is a very worthwhile and profitable means of selling your calves.

Calves are nominated through the County Agent on or before September 9. A $1.00 deposit fee for each calf consigned must be enclosed with the nomination of your calves.

If you wish to sell only steers your herd need not be tested for Bangs. However, the herd must be tested if you plan to sell the heifers. Steer calves must be vaccinated for shipping fever and blackleg and heifer calves must be vaccinated for Bangs.

If you wish to sell any calves through the calf sale, please call my office.

LOOKS LIKE A GOOD YEAR FOR BEEF CATTLE PRODUCTION

It looks like a good year for the beef cattle producer in Princess Anne. Not since 1950 have there been such excellent feed conditions throughout the county. Cattle are gaining rapidly and are in top condition for the time of the year.

If the weather continues favorable, there will be more pasture grass this fall, and later feeding than usual. Coupled with that is a larger-than-usual hay crop, and cattle should go through the winter in the best shape for several years. It is always a good idea to take good care of the extra winter feed, because no one knows what next year's weather conditions will be.

The price outlook is also favorable. Now there are 16% more cattle on feed than at this time last year, and the price of slaughter cattle may not hold at the present level, but with the current demand for meat, the increased number of cattle on feed probably won't depress the prices too much. The large feed crop this year should hold feeder cattle prices to a reasonably high level. Steer calves are being contracted mostly for 25 and 26 cents.

The cow man can concentrate on squeezing every possible dollar from the calf crop. Be sure calves are dehorned, because this will add a cent a pound to them. Dehorn them now so their heads will be completely healed by fall. If late calves haven't been castrated, do it immediately. Bull calves sell at a discount and castrating will add $15 or more to the sale price.

Watch out for flies. They are particularly bad this summer because of heavy rains and warm temperatures. Also watch for maggot on new born calves and on any recently dehorned calves.

CROSSBREEDING STUDIES UNDERWAY WITH CATTLE

Hybrids have been used, with remarkable results, by corn growers for several years.

To a considerable extent, crossbreeding has been used with poultry, hogs, and sheep, and generally some increase in fertility, growth rate, and vitality has been noted.

But what about beef cattle? Researchers at Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station are wondering how much hybrid vigor can be expected in better growth rate, feed efficiency, and carcass quality from crosses among the Angus, Hereford, and Shorthorn breeds of beef cattle. An experiment designed to answer the question is underway at the Steeles Tavern and VPI stations.

Relatively little experimental information is available now on the effects of breed-crossing in beef cattle, the scientists say. Crossbreeding among the British and non-British Brahman or its derived breeds cattle is practiced in extreme southern areas of the United States. However, little crossbreeding has been done among the British breeds (Angus, Hereford, and Shorthorn) in most parts of the country.

The cow herd being used in the experiment is at the Steeles Tavern station, consists of 40 Angus, 40 Hereford, and 40 Shorthorn cows. They are all high-grade or unregistered purebred cows. A few set of six bulls is used each year to give as wide a sample of the different breeds or crosses as possible.

The scientists say the results to date do not justify any conclusions. The experiment will be continued through five calf crops, when it is hoped enough data will be available to evaluate crossbreedings.

ALFALFA SEEDING TIPS LISTED

Alfalfa seeding is foremost in the minds of many Princess Anne farmers now. September rains are the signal for Tidewater and eastern Virginia farmers.

Use plenty of fertilizer when seeding. Use 1,000 to 1,200 pounds of 2-12-12 banded fertilizer or the equivalent on soils of average fertility. On low fertility soils, apply another 400 to 600 pounds of 0-14-14 or 0-10-20 or the equivalent per acre and plow down.

DELIVERY — NORFOLK & PRINCESS ANNE County
DIAL GA 8-6464 Enterprise 555

Good manure, fortified with 50 pounds per ton of 20% superphosphate may be substituted for up to 1/2 of the fertilizer, but remember that manure is almost always infested with weed seeds and that it will apply more nitrogen than alfalfa needs.

Prepare a good, firm seedbed. Plowing followed by disking and rolling is generally preferred. The lack of a good seedbed is one of the most common causes of seeding failures.

Seed an adapted variety, and always inoculate the seed with a good commercial alfalfa culture. Plant as soon as possible after inoculation. Keep in a shady place between the time it is inoculated and planted. Seed held over 24 hours after inoculation should be re-inoculated.

Use a good seeding method. There are many ways to seed alfalfa successfully. The most important thing is to avoid covering the seed more than 1/2 inch in heavy soil or 3/4 inch in lighter soil. Seeding on a firm seedbed and rolling is the most widely accepted method and is almost essential in summer and fall seedings.
